

EXPECT TO REACH COLLINS TONIGHT

PRESIDENT IS RELUCTANT TO ALTER CABINET

Appointment of Agricultural Secretary Will Complete Ministry

EXPECT PERIOD OF CALM

Prospect Is for Quiet and Uneventful Inaugural Ceremony

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co., Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge expects to announce the selection of a secretary of agriculture shortly and then his cabinet for the new term to which he was elected will be complete for a few months at least.

The extra session of the senate, however, will receive on Mar. 5 any new names that may be submitted. The controversy that has arisen over the confirmation of Charles B. Warren as attorney general has taught a lesson. The present congress was not elected last autumn but the senate which comes into office on Mar. 5 comes into power with the same mandate that was given Calvin Coolidge last November. Mr. Coolidge will have a working majority in the new senate. Ordinarily a president would have the opportunity to submit his cabinet selections to a new session of congress. The vacancies that have been created as a consequence of the resignation of Justice McKenna from the supreme court and the elevation of Attorney General Stone are unusual.

SURE OF CONFIRMATION

When the new senate meets it will have before it the name of Frank Kellogg, the new secretary of state, and it probably will give the name of the new secretary of agriculture too. If Mr. Warren's nomination is not acted upon in the next two weeks it will be sent in once more to the senate on March 5. It will be assured of confirmation then.

The president is not anxious to change his cabinet. He feels that a certain momentum has been acquired by the present officers and that the minimum disturbance to efficient government will occur if he makes no shifts. In the postoffice department, for instance, he is well satisfied with the service of Harry New. He told him recently he felt that he had made a good postmaster-general and wanted him to stay on.

Mr. Coolidge has said the same thing to some of his other cabinet officials. It looks therefore as if after the secretaryship of agriculture is filled, the list will be filled. Some changes may occur in the latter part of this year possibly about the time congress is convened in the basement session in the autumn or in regular session in December. Some members like Secretary Weeks and Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, are said to be desirous of returning to private life within a year but Mr. Coolidge is not eager to have either one go.

PLAN FEW CHANGES

The department of labor, department of commerce, the navy department, the postoffice department, the war department, the interior department and the treasury department will carry on as before. Only in the department of justice, agricultural department and department of state will there be changes. This is an unusually small number of changes for the beginning of a presidential term and means that inauguration so far as the government is concerned will be over in a day or so after the ceremonies have been completed. Business as usual the day before and the day after will be the program. This would have been the case in 1917 when Mr. Wilson was inaugurated for a second term but the shadow of impending war developed a feeling of constant uncertainty. With the ending of congress on March 4, the government will really settle to a routine job of administration along the lines already laid down by the president in his first year of office. Attention to economy is paramount. The inaugural address will be devoted primarily to the economic side of government. And the task of cutting the president's ideas will not be spectacular.

The prospect, therefore, is for a quiet and uneventful inauguration and a calm period of hard work immediately thereafter with a minimum of change in personnel.

FRENCH FLIER KILLED ON LAKE TCHAD FLIGHT

Nimney, French West Africa.—The second plane of the French air raiding to Lake Tchad crashed on taking off here Wednesday and Sergeant Vandaele, the pilot, was killed. Colonel Vuillomin, commanding the plane, Captain Davnu and Sergeant Knecht were injured.

COMMONS GASP WHEN LABORITE M. P. WEARS BRIGHT GREEN FROCK

London.—A politely subdued gasp of astonishment went through the ranks of the newly assembled house of commons Tuesday when the only Laborite woman M. P. Miss Ellen Wilkinson, entered wearing a vivid green frock—the most daring costume any woman has yet shown in Britain's staid legislative chamber.

It was the sensation of the day and the only relief in a very dull opening session. It had the further merit of affording a brilliant contrast to Miss Wilkinson's mass of red hair, which it was noticed she owned had shingled during the parliamentary vacation. Other woman members of the house, Lady Astor and Mrs. Hilton Philipson, Tuesday adhered to their previous custom of wearing black relieved with touches of white.

VATICAN'S DEMAND BLOCKS CONCORDAT

Request for Recognition by All Powers Is Given as Obstacle

Rome.—All attempts to negotiate a concordat between the Vatican and the Italian government have so far failed because the Holy See, it is stated in circles close to the government, has made it an initial condition that the concordat be acknowledged by all the powers, thus becoming an international agreement. This would enable any signatory power to interfere with what Italy considers her own internal affairs, namely her relations with the Vatican.

It is understood that Premier Mussolini has not lost hope of finding a solution unsatisfactory to both parties but so far nothing positive has been resulted.

The report reaching here that, once the concordat was concluded, the pope would make a tour of the world, is given no credence.

SHOOTING IN ASSEMBLY BRINGS BARRING OF ARMS

Constantinople.—Detailed accounts of the shooting in the Turkish national assembly Tuesday show that Deputy Halida was wounded in an exchange of firing with Deputy Ali of Adum Kara Hiseur and not by an unidentified person as at first reported. Halid Pasha who was the more seriously wounded of the two, has a distinguished military record, having commanded a division against the Greeks with the rank of general. After the shooting the assembly convened in a heated debate in consequence of which it was decided to enforce the rule forbidding deputies to bear arms within the chambers' precincts.

CRIVITZ HOTEL BURNS IN SECOND BIG BLAZE

Crivitz.—The Crivitz hotel here was burned down to the ground by fire which started in the basement from a overheated furnace at 9:30 Wednesday morning. The hotel was a frame structure, valued at $35,000 and was purchased by Elmer Schoeng a year ago.

Local fire fighters when confronted with the danger that the fire would spread, called in the Marinette fire department. By the time they arrived, however, the fire had spent its fury.

The fire is the second one of any consequence in this village within six months. Last fall fire destroyed ten buildings and virtually wiped out the entire business district.

Wisconsin Ratifies Child Labor Measure

Madison.—Wisconsin ratified the proposed federal child labor amendment Wednesday, the assembly concurring 64 to 26, in the pathway resolution adopted by the senate last week.

The roll calls follow:

Ayes: Baber, Blanchard, Brook, Cieszynski, Coleman, Conway, Cushman, Dettlinger, Duncan, Eber, Gerstlson, Ginn, Goodman, Grimstead, Swift, Hanson, Hilker, Holly, Hutchison, Ingalls, Jensen, E. J. FORD PLANS TO SEND OWN SHIP OVER ATLANTIC

Experiments With South American Line Encourage New Venture

Detroit, Mich.—The Ford Motor Co. will enter trans-Atlantic shipping, operating its own fleet for carrying manufactured automobile parts to the company's foreign plants. It was announced Wednesday by Edsel B. Ford, president. The Ford Co. has purchased the steamer East Indian from the Emergency Fleet corporation as the first large unit in the proposed foreign service fleet.

The Ford Co. already is operating in the South American and coastal trade with two small ships, the steamers Oneida and Onondaga. These steamers "were put into this service on a rather experimental basis," Mr. Ford's announcement said "and have proven the feasibility of extending our own shipping service to Europe."

The Oneida and Onondaga have been engaged in carrying automobile and tractor parts to Ford assembly plants along the southern coast of the United States and to South America. The company sent its first ship to a foreign port Nov. 5 last when the Onondaga, laden with motor car parts sailed from the River Rouge plant at Detroit for Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The East Indian, now is being reconditioned at Chester Pa. Its reciprocating steam engine will be replaced. Mr. Ford said by Diesel engines of a modern type. It will be ready for service in six months.

ARREST 19 IN RAIDS ON 13 SOFT DRINK PARLORS

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Following a combined raid by federal and state prohibition officers here late Tuesday on 13 soft drink parlors, 19 alleged liquor law violators were arrested.

The men were to be arraigned at Escanaba Wednesday afternoon on charges of violating the Volstead act and action will be taken to padlock the drink parlors.

The arrests culminated an investigation by prohibition officers over a period of two weeks during which time the dry sleuths, disguised as tramps and lumber workers, secured according to authorities, sufficient evidence to convict all of the men taken in the raid.

HOUSE QUASHES MEASURE TO RAISE SHORT FREIGHT

Washington, D. C.—The house commerce committee Wednesday by a vote of 11 to 6 declined to report the Gooding bill prohibiting higher railroad freight rates for short hauls than for long hauls over the same route.

The action was taken in executive council. Railroad and Pacific coast interests backed up in their objection to the measure by a majority of the members of the committee. Mr. Gooding had argued for its adoption. The measure had passed the senate.

APOLOGIZE TO FORMER DRY AGENT FOR ERROR

Washington, D. C.—A formal apology has been extended by prohibition officials here to Ralph E. Ruby, a former prohibition agent, for the erroneous announcement Tuesday that Ruby's home had been raided and alleged liquor seized.

The informant who made the purchase on the basis of which the raid was made, later said a mistake in identification had been made and that Ruby had no part in it. It also developed that Ruby lives in another section of the city.

PADLOCK PLANT OF FISHER BREWING CO., OCONOMOWOC

Milwaukee.—The plant of the Andrew Fischer Brewing co. at Oconomowoc was ordered padlocked late Tuesday. The plant was raided in January when a truckload of real beer came into the hands of the federal authorities when the machine carrying the beer overturned.

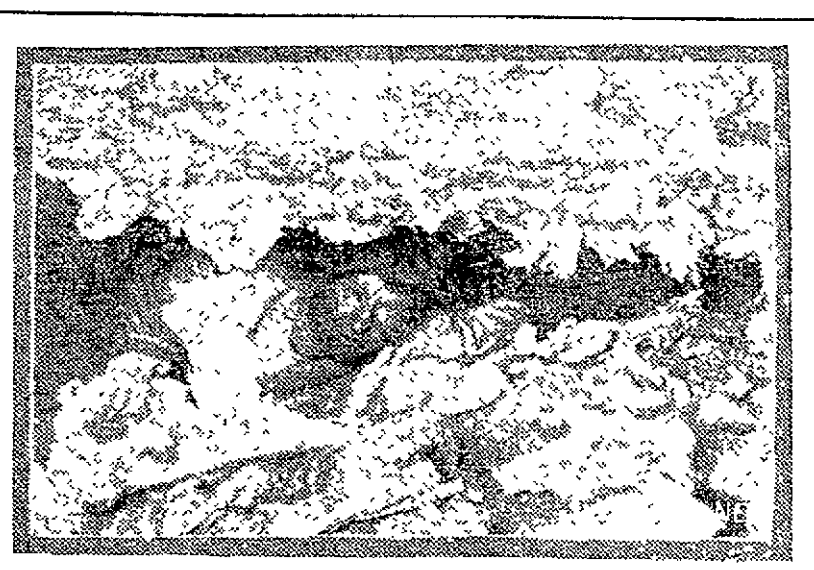

MURDER, NELSON, O. C. OLSEN, PAHL, RUTHERFORD, PRICE, RAHL, ROYCE, RUTHERFORD, SAUNDERS, SCHMIDT, SELLERS, SHANER, T. J. SMITH, SONENSHINE, STUBB, SWANSON, H. F. THOMPSON, J. C. THOMPSON, THORN, WALSH, WEBER, WOOD, ZITLOW, ZACHEN—61.

Nays: Beaversdorf, Busse, Caldwell, Cody, Dierling, Dorwin, Engel, G. Frederick, F. A. Frederick, Hall, Halverson, Hillman, Hinkley, Hoffmann, Hucklestad, Kampert, Laffey, Lawson, Meagers, Moul, Naumann, W. Olson, Slinck, Stokes, Vincent, Warden—28.

Absent or not voting: Davies, Dieringer, Edwards, Ellenbecker, Peterson, Schmitz, H. H. Smith, Tremblath, Tuffley—3.

COLLINS IN CREVICE

Flash in Chrystal Cave Shows How Explorer Was Trapped

The remarkable photo above shows Floyd Collins in a crevice of Crystal Cave, in exactly the position in which he was trapped in Sand Cave, near Cave City, Ky. It was taken just before he entered Sand Cave. Below, Collins' dog is shown mourning for him near the mouth of the cave. It has refused comfort since he was trapped.

SEES STANDARDIZATION OF LUMBER IN AMERICA

Milwaukee.—Within the coming four months the most marked effect of the standardization of lumber will be felt by the consumer. Arthur T. Upson, lumber standards advisor of the National Lumber Manufacturers association told the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen, in convention here Wednesday.

"Within the next four months the American lumber standards will be extended to include softwood factory lumber and structural timbers," Mr. Upson said "and eventually the lumber standards will include the hardwood."

Manufacturers, distributors and consumers will share alike in the benefits. Standardization of lumber sizes, grades, and practices will combine to make for economy in lumber manufacture, and will increase the efficiency in utilization and consumption.

FORMER STOCK RUNNER HEADS NEW YORK MARKET

New York.—Having begun his Wall Street career at the age of 16, as a stock runner at $6 a week, David U. Page, at the age of 41, is to become president of the New York curb market.

His election is favored by the governors and no opposition is expected. He became a broker at the age of 21 when the curb market was founded and for two years has been vice president of the exchange, now indoors.

PADLOCK PLANT OF FISHER BREWING CO., OCONOMOWOC

Milwaukee.—The plant of the Andrew Fischer Brewing co. at Oconomowoc was ordered padlocked late Tuesday. The plant was raided in January when a truckload of real beer came into the hands of the federal authorities when the machine carrying the beer overturned.

CHURCHMAN URGES PEACE AND TOLERANCE IN TALK

St. Louis.—A plea that the church take a stand in behalf of world peace and local tolerance was made by the Rev. C. M. McConnell of Chicago in an address before the regional conference of clergies of the Methodist Episcopal church here Tuesday.

"We are just emerging from an orgy of hate and religious intolerance," he said and named it a "backwash" of the World War.

Holding and banquets were given preceding church attendance according to a statement of a pastor quoted by the Rev. Roy L. Smith of Minneapolis, Minn., who continued that the first thing in giving church influence was to get people inside the church.

HALT SEARCH FOR FUGITIVES DURING FURTHER INQUIRY

Authorities Seek New Evidence of Larcenies Charged to Brothers

Rhineland.—The hunt for Robert and Vern Wilson, fugitives of the law and thought to be secreted in the dense woods near Tripoli was at a standstill Wednesday awaiting an investigation into numerous charges of larceny lodged against them from persons in Adam, Lincoln and Onedac.

Sheriff Hans Rodd of Onedac, who has joined in the hunt, stated Wednesday that the charges of petty larceny on which warrant had been sworn out for the brothers do not warrant "shooting a man but he said when all complaints against the fugitives for which no warrants have been issued, have been investigated, then "pending out investigation a posse from the three counties involved will not rest until they get the Wilsons."

"We don't for a gun fight," the sheriff said "but we aim to get the drop on them. However I do not believe they have any shells with them. The Wilsons escaped from a deputy sheriff late Tuesday and a sheriff's posse traced the pair to a country where they attempted to purchase cartridges. The trail then led to the woods and no trace of the fugitives has since been found."

OPPOSITION ASKS HERRIOT TO SIFT MARSEILLES CLASH

Paris.—The Bloc National group, the principal parliamentary opposition to the Herriot government, decided Wednesday to designate a member to interpellate Premier Herriot upon the clash in Marseilles Monday night between communists and Catholics, resulting in the death of two persons and the injuring of nearly 100 others and to ask an immediate discussion of the interpellation.

Much criticism is voiced in this group at the attitude of the Socialist senator, Plaisies, mayor of Marseilles, whom the Catholics hold might have prevented the attacks upon them had sufficient police measures been taken. They charge the mayor with responsibility for the outcome.

SENATE RATIFIES COMMERCE TREATY

Reservation Gives Congress Authority to Prevent Favoritism

Washington, D. C.—The German commercial treaty has been ratified by the senate after objections were removed by attaching a reservation placing in the hands of congress authority to abrogate the section preventing discrimination by either nation in favor of its shipping, through tariff duties.

The reservation written into the treaty as ratified late Tuesday by the senate was a substitute for the one suggested by Secretary Hughes and approved by the foreign relations committee and is understood to be not wholly acceptable to the state department. The first proposal would have given the president alone authority to abrogate the provisions in question.

Under the treaty as ratified, congress is given authority to put into force preferential tariff duties in favor of American shipping at any time within one year after exchange of ratifications. Ratification was preceded by a record vote and was preceded by only brief discussion.

ALASKA BUYS HAY TO FEED STARVING DEER

Seattle, Wash.—Four tons of hay purchased by the Petersburg, Alaska, Commercial club is to be sent from here on the steamship Admiral Rogers to the Pacific Steamship Co. Wednesday for thousands of deer reported starving on the mainland coast and islands of southeastern Alaska because of a heavy fall of snow. Southeastern Alaska towns have made appeals to the United States biological survey for help.

ARREST FORMER POSTAL MINISTER IN GERMANY

Berlin.—Dr. Anton Hoesle, former minister of posts and the clerical party's member in the Marx-Staemmer cabinet, was arrested Wednesday after a cross examination by the public prosecutor.

The arrest was said to be due to incriminating statements made against him by officials of the Barmer Bros. to whom state funds are alleged to have been loaned, and also the suspicion that he was attempting to conceal incriminating documents.

FOURTEEN WOUNDED IN COMMUNIST UPRISING

Prague.—Ten Communists and four policemen were wounded during a Communist demonstration here Tuesday night against the high cost of living.

The police, after calling upon the gathering to disperse, were met with a revolver fire, to which they replied and then charged. Fifteen arrests were made. Two of the wounded may die.

KETCH SINKS OFF COAST OF ENGLAND; RESCUE CREW

London.—Considerable alarm was felt Wednesday morning over dispatches to a London newspaper that a big liner had gone ashore on the Essex coast and was sending up distress flares near Walton.

The vessel turned out, however, to be 100 ton ketch Rosanna, which was swamped and sank. A life boat from Clacton on Sea rescued her crew of four.

LABOR FEDERATION BACKS CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Miami, Fla.—The American Federation of Labor will carry on a campaign for the national child labor amendment to the federal constitution in those states which have failed to ratify the amendment until such time as legislative favorability to ratification are elected, the federations executive council decided at its business session here Wednesday.

PREDICT JARDINE WILL BE NEW FARM SECRETARY

Washington, D. C.—Although the White House withheld comment, administration officials elsewhere indicated a belief Wednesday that William M. Jardine of Kansas had virtually been decided on by President Coolidge for secretary of agriculture. The Kansas delegation in congress which endorsed J. C. Mohler, also of Kansas, for the post, met and changed its support to Mr. Jardine. Members of the delegation have been in constant consultation with Mr. Coolidge but they declined to say whether that had definite information as to his decision.

Mr. Jardine himself, who is a member of the president's agricultural conference, conferred with Mr. Coolidge during the day. Officials said the visit had to do with agricultural questions but decided to go into details.

Senate And House Press Action For Farm Relief

Washington, D. C.—The problem of working out a farm relief program to the present day action in the remaining three weeks of the session continued to occupy the senate and house agriculture committees Wednesday, both having called members of the president's agricultural conference for questioning on the conference recommendations.

Chairman Carey of the conference was the first witness on the house committee's list for the day, while the senate committee had called William Jardine to continue his explanation of the conference proposals begun Tuesday.

Chairman Hansen of the house committee who had drafted for committee study Wednesday a bill to carry out the conference recommendations with regard to cooperative marketing, continued optimistic as to the chances of getting this feature of the program through congress before adjournment. Some members of the senate committee, however, were frankly doubtful that their committee itself could reach any agreement on a farm aid program and more so that any substantial program could be put into effect in the short time remaining.

The house in the meantime has moved forward speedily to carry out part of the conference program by passing and sending to the senate the Strong and Farnell bills.

Daily Test With Amplifier Shows Explorer Is Still Alive

GUARD AGAINST ACCIDENT

Experiment With Banana Oil Gas Proves Proximity of Tunnels

Cave City, Ky.—Barring unexpected developments, indications at 11:30 Wednesday afternoon were that Floyd Collins would not be extricated before late Wednesday night from Sand Cave in which he has been trapped for 12 days.

H. T. Carmichael, in charge of sinking the shaft, said that a sudden striding of the cavern in which Collins is a prisoner would be the only unexpected development which might possibly lead to an earlier rescue.

The twelfth section of timbering up the wall of the shaft was completed at noon Wednesday. Each section covers approximately three feet. The excavation was slightly below the last braung put in.

GAS PENETRATES FLOOR

The odor of banana oil spunked down Collins' tunnel Sunday night and again Monday rose through the floor of the shaft Tuesday night to hearten the tired diggers. Extra precautions in timbering the shaft were made to protect the workmen should the roof of the tunnel or cavern suddenly be "run through."

A shaft cleft in the side of the shaft toward the north or Sand Cave side was discovered at 38 1/2 feet indicating the underground hontycomb section was near at hand. The sandy layer at the bottom of the shaft was fairly dry, compared to the muck in which the diggers have been working.

The daily test to determine if Collins still lives, by means of an amplifying device hooked across the electric light circuit leading down to his prison, has strengthened the belief of the physicians here that Collins still is alive. The faint motion of the light bulb around the neck as it moves in its socket with the rise and fall of his chest in breathing is so regular that they are convinced Collins is still alive. The last test Tuesday evening showed a series of jerky rasping noises, presumed to indicate coughing or other movement, followed by a fall in the respiration noises from 20 to about 12 per minute. This the doctors believed, indicated he was falling asleep.

Barring infection or gangrene from his cramped 11 days' imprisonment, the physicians' hopes are strong that they can save him if he is reached soon. Every possible emergency apparatus needed by the physicians has been prepared in the Red Cross operation room for transfusion, amputation or whatever else his condition indicates. A stretcherlike appliance, to raise Collins through the shaft has been constructed.

SPANISH CHAMBER OUSTS PREMIER SANTOS BY VOTE

Lisbon.—The chamber of deputies Wednesday voted lack of confidence, in the government by 65 to 45 after a stormy all night session and Premier Santos resigned.

Because of rumors of disturbances, troops paraded the streets and were stationed around parliament after mid night.

The world is fairly full of two kinds of deceivers—those who fool themselves and those who try to fool others. It's a poor business, any way you look at it.

The man who won't face facts himself, is apt to spread falsehood among other men. Believing in illusions is a dangerous practice when the welfare of others is involved.

Little deceits are often the seeds of great wrongs. Had lying in the heart the opposite of what the lips speak, though sometimes tactful, is never the best way out of difficulties.

800 ATTEND FIRST PROGRAM OF FARM MEET AT SEYMOUR

Horticulture and Alfalfa Discussed by Farm Experts at Farm Institute

BY W. F. WINSEY

The farm institute held in the Seymour auditorium on Tuesday afternoon was attended by about 800 city and farm people. The program consisted of vocal music by a chorus of high school girls, moving pictures showing the value of milk as a food, and speeches by agricultural experts. A display of posters, advertising the farm institute, devised by pupils of rural schools in competition for prizes furnished by the business men of Seymour was suspended on a wire around the auditorium. On tables were displays of corn, vegetables, fruits, eggs and poultry and on the walls were samples of cured grasses. A. C. Murphy, Shawano co agent, and president of the state alfalfa association, N. A. Tasmussen, proprietor of the Rassmussen fruit farms and nurseries, Oak Kosh, and Prof. Tremmel connected with the experiment stations of the university, were the speakers.

Mr. Tasmussen described his method of raising rhubarb in barrels in the basement of his home in winter and in the garden in summer. By adjusting the light and temperature in the basement, the entire growth of the plants may go to stems and the dividing old hills and setting the plants from three to four feet apart and using a deep covering of manure, a few plants will furnish all the rhubarb needed on a farm, asserted the speaker.

Mr. Murphy said that alfalfa produces from 50 to 100 per cent more hay than do clovers and that alfalfa by driving its root system deep into the ground, brings to the surface fertilizing elements not available to other plants and helps to break up and to drain heavy clay soils. It also collects nitrogen one of the best fertilizers, from the air and stores it in little sacks on the roots of the plant. "Alfalfa is the best fertilizer among grasses and the best hay for dairy cows, so why not raise it?" asked the speaker.

Mr. Murphy predicted that in the near future farmers would find it to their advantage to raise lessilage and more alfalfa.

BENTON IS SPEAKER AT GREEN BAY BANK MEETING

Homer H. Benton, Appleton attorney was one of the speakers at the dinner meeting of Green Bay bankers at the Northland Hotel in Green Bay Tuesday evening. The meeting was arranged by the Green Bay chapter of the American Institute of Banking. Mr. Benton, who is the instructor in commercial law at Green Bay classes under the auspices of the Green Bay chapter of the American Institute of Banking, spoke on Commercial Law. More than 75 executives, directors and employees representing all of the banks of the city were present, according to Mr. Benton.

Stephen H. Miller, national education director of the American Institute of Banking and former dean of the school of business administration at the University of Washington was the principal speaker. During the war he was special investigator for the Federal Trade commission and in addition has written scores of books on economics and banking and is a constant contributor to American publications.

Federal Income Tax

Losses arising from "fires, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty or from theft" are deductible whether or not connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. The term "other casualty" within the meaning of the revenue act of 1921, is one arising through the action of a physical force or nature, for example a flood or frost.

If a taxpayer's home or automobile is destroyed by fire, or if his summer tungalow is damaged by a storm he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained. Allowance, of course, must be made for any insurance or other compensation received. In event of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages, provided at the time the truck was being used for business purposes. No deduction is allowed the owner of the automobile because the car was not being used for business purposes, neither is it a "casualty" as defined above.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business.

As a general rule deductions for losses are allowed for the year in which sustained. A taxpayer may ascertain the amount of a loss sustained during a prior taxable year which he had not deducted from gross income for that year. He may render an amended return for such preceding year including such amount of loss in the deductions from gross income and may file with the Bureau of Internal Revenue a claim for refund of the excess tax paid by reason of failure to deduct the loss in his original return. A loss from theft or embezzlement occurring in one year and discovered in another is ordinarily deductible for the year in which sustained.

HEALTH COMMITTEE MAKES CONTEST PROGRESS

Good progress has been made by the health committee of the better cities contest in its survey of conditions here, according to reports made at its meeting Tuesday evening in the chamber of commerce rooms. Miss Mary Orison is chairman of the committee.

Those present at the meeting beside the chairman were Miss Helen Stinson, Miss Lucy Helen Pearson, A. J. Hall, R. M. Connelly, George Merkel and Miss Mary Baker.

Each member of the committee was assigned a portion of the survey and asked to submit a written report at the next meeting containing the information required for the general summary.

TRAUTMAN IS HEAD OF NEW BIBLE CLASS

Young Men Organize Group to Study Problems in Light of Scriptures

John Trautman was elected president of the young men's Bible study class of the Y. M. C. A. at the organization meeting Tuesday evening. Other officers elected were W. E. Klossing, vice president; Walter S. Fox, steward; Carl Wennerstrand, secretary. Organization of the group was effected and the name, "B Y's Club" was chosen by the fifteen charter members who attended the meeting. The purpose of the club is to learn more about the Bible and to discuss present day problems in the light of the scriptures. Meetings will be held at 6.45 every Tuesday evening and will be preceded by a supper.

The club will start the study of characters in the Bible. The Life of Christ, according to the gospel of Matthew, will be the first lesson. Moffatt's translation of the new testament will be used as a text book and George F. Werner, general secretary of Appleton Y. M. C. A., will be the leader.

The club is open to young men who desire to learn more of the scriptures and enjoy the companionship of fellow Christians, according to the constitution. Charter members are John Trautman, Val Beyer, Edwin S. Godfrey, W. E. Klossing, Carl Wennerstrand, Roger Bond, Walter S. Fox, Homer Benton, C. J. Reed, Alfred Henry, Orville V. Farnie, R. E. McKel, Gerald Van Ostrand, Robert C. Timm, Henry D. Wood, C. L. Boynton and George F. Werner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Boynton will leave Thursday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton at Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. Boynton will return Monday but Mrs. Boynton will remain in Fort Wayne for a month.

Plumbing Instructor for Valley Cities Prepares for New Position

Frederick Maeder of Altoona, Pa., who has been selected by the committee appointed by the various organizations interested in the Fox river valley plumbing school for the position of itinerant plumbing instructor of the valley, will report for duty early in March. Mr. Maeder expects to attend the teacher training session of the Trade Extension Bureau, State Board of Vocational Education of Pennsylvania and the Federal Board of Vocational Education in Pittsburgh from Feb. 15 to 26 and then report for duty. He will spend some time in each of the five cities in the valley going over details and making preliminary arrangements for starting classes. He also will visit the shops and schools of the valley to become better acquainted with local conditions. The cities included in the new organization are Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton and Green Bay.

COLLEGE GRADUATE

Mr. Maeder, who will make his home in one of these cities, is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College with a B. S. degree in education. He has had ten years experience as a plumber and teamster. During the war he had the rather large charge of the plumbing work due by his regiment at Camp Dix, N. J., and served 18 months in France. He holds a Smith-Hughes vocational teacher's certificate in Pennsylvania and is an excellent speaker.

The itinerant teacher is the newest idea in education and it is made possible only by the very closest cooperation of the cities concerned. It results in obtaining instruction in courses that otherwise could not be given as a specialty in the vocational schools of any other school. There would not be enough pupils for a full-time class in these subjects, but with the traveling teachers they are efficiently handled as four or five cities pay the expenses.

ALL COOPERATE

The plumbing project is unique because the boards of vocational education, and master and journeymen plumbers organizations of five cities are backing the course and all will share in the services of the itinerant teacher. The course is strictly a Smith-Hughes project which means that no one is eligible except apprentices, journeymen and masters actually engaged in plumbing and heating business. This type of education is known technically as "trade education" and is fostered financially by state and federal funds to the extent of three-fourths of the total expenditure. The Appleton board of vocational education has gone on record as favoring the movement and similar reports have been filed by the local organizations of master plumbers and the journeymen plumbers and steamfitters.

ADVERTISE VALLEY

The course received much favorable comment and brought much publicity to Appleton and the Fox river valley at the recent industrial and vocational convention in Indianapolis and in several important trade journals. Appleton is the pioneer in this field and 47 other cities throughout the country are preparing to follow the lead here and are watching developments in the valley closely. The Janesville district, in which Madison, Janesville, Watertown and Beloit are the leading cities, is trying the same itinerant teacher idea in painting and decorating.

ARMY WILL HOLD TESTS FOR PROMOTION IN JUNE

The War Department announces that final examinations for appointment of Second Lieutenants in the Regular Army are to be held during the week of June 15-20, 1925. Preliminary examinations are to be held from time to time as applications are received. Appointments will be distributed throughout the various branches of the service.

Any male citizen of the United States between the ages of 21 and 30 years with a college education or the equivalent covered in home study should be able to pass the prescribed examination.

Examinations for eligible candidates are to be held at all Regular Army posts in the State. Requests for information and application should be addressed to the Commanding General, Sixth Corps Area, 1819 West Pershing Road, Chicago, Ill.

Favor City Engaging In Paving Work

To let paving contracts or to do the work under the direction of the city engineer and the board of public works are questions that are engaging city officials in considering the 1925 paving program.

Altogether are considerably inclined to the policy in vogue at Sheboygan where the city does all its own paving. Sheboygan maintains an elaborate equipment for paving and, it is said, has constructed pavements that not only show a high type of workmanship but which also saved the city considerable money.

Were Appleton to engage in the business of doing its own paving, it is argued, the city could save enough money on one year's construction program to pay for the equipment that would be necessary. The city would not only benefit by a saving in the price of material by reason of purchasing in large lots, but would save the contractor's profits, it is held.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., is among those who see special advantages for the city in having the work done by the street department rather than by contract.

HOPEFUL NOTE IN LUMBER INDUSTRY

Appleton Man Delivers Key-note Address at Lumbermen's Convention

Milwaukee—William Fountain, Appleton, president of the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen's association, speaking before that organization here Tuesday reviewed the accomplishments and failures of the past year. He declared that the result of the November election has a stimulating effect on the lumber business, and this combined with the needs for more dwellings, and better housing generally brought renewed activities.

The standardization of lumber sizes, said, works to the advantage of all the dealer, the manufacturer and the consumer.

"A year ago when we stood here gazing into the future of 1924, we cannot deny that optimism was a valuable asset. We needed all of the optimism we could find after our experiences of 1923.

HOPEFUL NOTE

"A hopeful note appeared in August, the advancing prices for many farm products. It later developed that this marked the long awaited turn for the better in agricultural conditions.

"The results of the November election brought about one of the most remarkable reversals of sentiment in the history of business. A vigorous optimism sprang up almost overnight. Prices of stocks and bonds immediately started upward. Commercial circles responded in like manner. Freight car loading reached record figures. There were other signs of revival in all lines.

"The year 1925 opens to more hopeful conditions and rests upon more solid foundations than at any time since the war.

"While the shortage, particularly of housing and business buildings, has been largely overcome, yet continued high real wages and general prosperity will create a continued demand because of the rising standards of living, and the insistence for more elbow room and better housing generally.

BUILDING KEEPS UP

"One striking feature in the maintenance of increased construction activities, is the effect which the automobile has been producing in increasing the demand for road construction and in causing migration of popula-

FOR BOY IN REFORMATORY

An application for unconditional pardon has been filed by Lonsdorf and Staidl of Appleton in behalf of Chester White, 17, who was sentenced on June 23, 1924, by Washburn circuit court for stealing a Ford automobile. Attorney John A. Lonsdorf formerly was principal of the high school at Shell Lake, county seat of Washburn. The boy is serving a one year sentence at the state reformatory at Green Bay and still has half a year to serve. The Appleton attorneys are appealing to have the remainder of the sentence remitted because the boy is needed at home.

tion in many of our towns to new housing in the suburbs.

"The standardization of lumber sizes has had the undivided attention of every branch of the industry. Some dealers apparently feel that they have nothing to do with this matter, that it makes no difference what sizes of stock they sell. This is wrong. All dealers should purchase only those sizes specified in the American Lumber Standards, which became effective for one year beginning July 1, 1924.

STANDARDIZE LUMBER

"The lumber industry, including all its component parts, voluntarily and upon its own initiative, has inaugurated within the industry, for its own welfare and that of the public generally, a comprehensive program of lumber standardization. This action on its own part sets a precedent in the American industry today; perhaps no other industry having similar complicated conditions to deal with, has gone so far in an effort to establish rules for fair dealing in the trade.

"The American lumber standards are construed to include standards of size, standards of grade, and agreement to submit to official association inspection any complaint involving either standard size or standard grade.

"The benefits to come from the American lumber standards wisely applied do not all accrue to the dealers obviously manufacturers will likewise gain, consumers will profit, and possibly greatest of all a large and complicated industry will demonstrate its ability to control itself and put its own house in order.

"Of all the aids in modern lumber merchandising there is none more powerful than judicious advertising. The general formula as we know, is 'Have lumber with merit and put it up in the most attractive sizes and grades; advertise it widely to create a desire to use it; cultivate that desire until it grows to conviction; then use personal salesmanship to secure the order.'

County Pioneers Meet on Feb. 22

Elaborate Program Is Being Made for Fifth-third Annual Gathering

The fifty-third annual convention of the Outagamie County Pioneer association will be held Monday, Feb. 23 in Odd Fellow hall, according to Fred E. Harriman, assistant secretary of the association. The committee on arrangements, speakers and reception will be appointed in the next few days and plans are being made to make the meeting the largest and best to date. A well-known speaker will be secured to give the annual address and the hall will be beautifully decorated. A reception and old fashioned get-together will be held in the morning and the pioneer dinner prepared by the "old-timers" will be followed by the program and speeches in the afternoon. Miss Rose Ryan, a graduate of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, will play a group of piano selections. Preparations are being made for a large crowd of out-of-town folks.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the association, Dr. G. A. Ritchie was elected a director for the unexpired term of the late Judge John Bottenssek. Officers of the association are George P. McGillan, president; A. W. Priest, vice president; W. M. Roblee, secretary and treasurer; Fred E. Harriman, assistant secretary and treasurer.

AVENUE NEWSIES VOTE
3 BOYS INTO MEMBERSHIP

Elmer Qualey, Roy Winter and Ervin Turkow were voted into the Avenue Newsies club at a special meeting Monday evening at the Y. M. C. Twenty-one members were present. Work on the Pioneer program of the Y. M. C. A. was taken up. Harold Ferron, club president, is leading the group in the number of points with 627. Paul Rennert with 567 points, closely followed by Willard Ferron with 552 points.

Report of the athletic committee showed that the club had lost its first basketball game of the season to the Neenah team on Saturday. All Avenue newsies who are not members of the club have been invited to attend the meeting on Tuesday night. Lloyd Townsend of Green Bay, Lawrence

Formula of 1924
For Phillips' Dental Magnesia

Magnesia and three other antacids. Antiseptics—four of them—to combat germ attacks. Iodine—for the gums. Cleaners—made of fruit oil. Polishes—to whiten teeth. Deodorants—for the breath.

16 Ingredients.

Not Beauty Alone
Other things are vital to the teeth

You want beautiful teeth, but other things must also be considered.

Magnesia is all-important. Force it between and around the teeth, particularly at night. Fermenting foods form acid, the cause of tooth decay. Magnesia neutralizes acid.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia contains a concentrated form, to penetrate the crevices and stay. It is made by the makers of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, standard with dentists for 50 years.

Apply this tooth paste with its super-magnesia two or three times a day. Use it at bedtime to fight acids while you sleep.

Fights every foe

Phillips' Dental Magnesia fights other foes. It contains four antiseptics to combat the germs which breed by millions in the mouth. It contains iodine to protect the gums.

A fruit-oil cleanser does the cleaning. Two polishers whiten and beautify the teeth. Deodorants are there to sweeten and purify the breath.

All these helps are combined in one tooth paste. You do everything at once. The effects are pleasant and complete. No lesser tooth paste will content you when you once know this.

Formula of 1924

Phillips' Dental Magnesia has adopted what is called the Formula of 1924. Four great organizations collaborated on it. The object was to meet modern requirements in the best way science knows.

It is not secret or patented. Anyone may use this formula in the interest of better mouth hygiene. It is the best we know today for a dentifrice.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia made to this formula is at your drug store now. Get it today. Apply it tonight. You cannot afford to delay these helps. Nor can anyone else in your home.

MEETING CHICAGO HALF WAY

It seems to us that the recommendations made to the secretary of war by Major-General Taylor, chief of army engineers, and Major Putnam, district engineer of Chicago, relative to the diversion of water from Lake Michigan by the sanitary district of Chicago are reasonable and just to all interests concerned.
It is proposed to issue a five-year permit to the sanitary district to divert 8,500 cubic feet of water per second, which is a reduction of 1,500 cubic feet from what is now being drawn. Within this period Chicago is to provide a sewage disposal system capable of serving its requirements one hundred per cent. At the end of the five-year period, or before, the volume of water diverted must be reduced to 4,500 cubic feet per second, the amount now legally authorized. In the meantime, Chicago is to make every effort to conserve its water by installing meters in at least ninety per cent of its services. It may further be required to erect compensating works to restore the lake levels, and must deposit a certified check of $1,000,000 with the government as evidence of good faith in this matter.

We believe this solution of the controversy will be viewed with favor by the lake states and shipping. There is no disposition to bear down unduly on Chicago's neglect of sanitation by failure to provide mechanical sewage reduction plants. All that is demanded of her now is that she shall remedy this condition with the utmost dispatch. There will be a willingness to grant her sufficient time to safeguard the health of her people, and to continue to take such an amount of water from Lake Michigan as is absolutely necessary to this purpose.

On the other hand, Chicago should not be permitted to evade her responsibilities or to engage in duplicity. She should be made to understand that her unlawful taking of water must come to an end within five years, and that she is to make every effort to economize in the use of water now taken. We do not think it is essential that Chicago should agree to the five-year period. That should be imposed.
She should be made to agree to only those things which place the burden of remedying conditions upon her shoulders.
Particularly, Chicago should not be permitted to misrepresent her ability to meet the terms proposed by the war department officers. Whatever is necessary to be done in the interest of navigation and the maintenance of lake levels can be done.
Certainly it can be done within five years and in all probability less.

THE STONE-WHEELER CASE

After fiddling around for two or three weeks that mercurial body, the United States senate, which blows hot or cold with every fresh wind, finally chose the course it was apparent all along it would have to choose and ratified the appointment of Harlan F. Stone to the supreme court. The senate acted over the Stone appointment a good deal like it acted over the Muscle Shoals question. First it did, then it didn't, then it did, then it didn't,
and at last it did.

What upset the senate and threw it off its equilibrium was the prospective indictment of Senator Wheeler in the District of Columbia. It was asserted as a play of politics, that Mr. Stone's activities in the Wheeler case were actuated by partisan motives. Some men in public life never rise above such motives, but Mr.
Stone is not a man of this character, and the senate knew it. His predecessor, on the other hand, could hardly proceed in any case except on the political basis. He was open to the charge of reprisal against the Montana senator, because of the latter's exposure of Mr. Paugherty's all-around unfitness for the office he held. Because Mr. Stone dared to bring a case against a United States senator before a federal grand jury on its merits, he aroused the wrath of members who think only in terms of politics. However, the fact stood out that Mr. Stone's appointment to the supreme court was entitled to consideration entirely apart from his connection with the Wheeler case, and the senate had to accept that fact.

It is complained that the bringing of proceedings against Mr. Wheeler in the District of Columbia is in the nature of persecution, on the ground that it is a violation of the constitutional requirement that a man must be indicted and tried for an offense where it is committed. Mr.
Stone replies that the evidence at Washington shows that the violation of law, if there was one, occurred within the jurisdiction of the federal court in the District of Columbia. Whether this is so or not, the courts will duly determine, so there is no occasion to get excited about this phase of the case. Moreover, the senate forgets that it was itself which first put Mr. Wheeler to trial and it did not hesitate to do so in the city of Washington. If Senator Wheeler has violated the law he ought to be treated with no more consideration than any other citizen.
On the other hand, if he did not violate it he will be acquitted and vindicated. Undoubtedly there is a prima facie case against him and under the circumstances it is the duty of the government to go through with the matter.

POSTPONED AGAIN

The world is still with us. The firmament has not rolled together like a scroll.
Another "end of the world" has been merely the end of an illusion.

On paper the world has disintegrated so many times that its resistance to these successive decays is nothing short of marvelous. If a cult were formed for every combination of mysterious numbers and signs in Revelations and Apocalyptic literature which might be taken to foretell the date of the millennium's beginning and the day of judgment, there is no reason some zealous "awaiting" might not take place every month of every year. And that is just the reason human beings will probably continue to set dates until the true one, which is of course undoubtedly en route.

The year one thousand came and passed and disappointed thousands who had accommodated their earthly affairs to present themselves for judgment. Halley's comet as a sign of world destruction proved a dismal failure and the world came to an end only for a poor suicide or two, overcome by zeal and fear. William Miller's dead line, March 24, 1843, went by and morning came on March 22. But optimism concerning the near shuffling off of this mortal coil seems to rise undaunted after each failure. Miller set a new date in 1844, and saw it pass; then made it "indefinite, but close."

So somebody will be along with a better date in the future, and the world need not feel entirely unconsoled for the loss in 1925 of the only great spectacle nobody will be able to read about in the papers.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

LOOKING AHEAD.

TODAY is the day that our mind runs away with the thoughts of a garden in summer.
How truly 'tis said that we're looking ahead on a plot that we hope is a hummer.
We'll hike to the yard and we'll draw on a card the plans for the layout in mind. The thought that is main is our plot won't be plain, but of very original kind.
We'll read magazines with their tinted up scenes of the garden 'tis easy to grow. The wife lends her voice to the one of her choice, and then hubby starts countin' his dough.
We send for the seeds that will fulfill our needs and we wonder what luck they will bring. Impatientness grows. Then, most everyone knows, that we pray for the coming of spring.
Right here is the place for a kindly meant trace of a hint to all folks who buy seeds: Whatever you're growing, pay heed to your hoeing, ere all of your plans go to weeds.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician And Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

BILIARY CALCULI.

In our last talk on the gall question we saw how and why gallstones happen and ran over some of the "indigestion" symptoms which should arouse the victim's suspicion at any rate. We rounded the conference off, if you will recall—as no doubt you will if you suspect you have gallstones—with an allusion to the periodic attacks of severe distress which many gallstone victims have. And now there's worse still to come. To a doctor it really makes little difference whether the patient designates such attacks as "gas attacks," "heart attacks," "acute indigestion," "intestinal indigestion," or what not, so long as the doctor files a claim and at the first opportunity sinks a shaft to get the gallstones. These irregular attacks of alleged "indigestion" fail to arouse the enthusiasm of an ambitious doctor, for two reasons; first, they are positive evidence that something serious is the matter;
second, they usually happen in the very early morning hours. At best these attacks of spurious indigestion are bad from every point of view. But gall-stone colic is far worse.

One often hears of people rolling about with pain.
The victim of biliary colic is abruptly seized with agonying pain in the right side under the free ribs, the pain radiating to the right shoulder, perhaps, and also to the "pit of the stomach." Rolling about the floor may temporarily assuage the agony, but very often there comes a severe chill and complete collapse. Following the chill the temperature shoots away up, and finally a drenching sweat occurs, with great circulatory depression. The pain, with chill, fever and sweat, pretty clearly spells gall-stones. If next day the skin, mucous membranes, white of eyes or body secretions show evidence of jaundice might as well arrange for the ambulance.
The colic is not necessarily caused by a stone traversing the bile duct; probably more often it is caused by sudden increase in the inflammation of the wall of the bile tract or gall sac or by spasm of muscle fibers of the wall.

Jaundice (the yellow discoloration of skin, mucous membranes and body secretions) never occurs in some 40 per cent of gallstone cases. Even among cases in which a gallstone has been found, at operation, lodged in the common bile duct, jaundice has been entirely absent in 25 per cent. So we can neither condemn nor pardon the patient who does or does not show a yellow streak.

X-ray pictures will demonstrate the presence of gallstones in about half of all cases. Failure of the X-ray examination to show gallstones by no means proves the suspect innocent of having gallstones concealed within. Calculi consisting largely of cholesterol, make little or no shadow in the X-ray picture; calculi containing lime salts will probably be visible in the X-ray negative. Among the conditions which have been mistaken for biliary colic and gall-stones when blind confidence was imposed in the mere X-ray evidence, may be named renal colic and stone in the kidney, lead colic, gastric and duodenal ulcer, and cancer of the gall sac. Clearly, then, to have and to hold gallstones one must know what, why and whether they are. Mr.
Billing's plain people know too many things pertaining to the liver and all its works which ain't so, and I invite readers so oppressed to stick around, pay up subscription and follow where I show a light along the ways of health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Grownups Have Worms.

Kindly tell me if grown people ever have worms?
(R. E. R.)

Answer.—Yes.

The Right Salts.

One of our comely pupil nurses, lamenting a tendency toward adiposity, was advised by the head nurse to limit her carbohydrates and to try a few somersaults, a la Brady, morning and night. Next day she reported that she was on the diet, all right, but that she had searched all through the drug store and could find no summer salts anywhere, would Epsom salts do as well? (Mrs. P and A.)

Answer.—Which should be a warning to nurses against the attempts of nurses to prescribe treatment. Many a fat woman who fears somersaults will break her neck does not hesitate a moment about taking epsom salts and breaking her fast.
But in my judgment neither somersaults nor epsom salts are worth the risk involved in using them for the purpose of reduction, since they don't reduce. I have never suggested somersaults for reduction, and any reduction one might effect through the use of epsom salts would be at the expense of health.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Wednesday, Feb. 11, 1900.

The dropping of a drawbar caused a wreck at Greenville station this morning in which 16 freight cars were derailed and most of them were practically demolished.

Mrs. W. S. Kahler and Mrs. George Wright were the prizewinners yesterday at the meeting of the B. S. Schaffkopf club.

A masquerade was given at the home of Harvey Davis, fifth-street Monday evening in honor of his sixteenth birthday anniversary.
Algermen Harwood, Brown and Meyer were appointed as a committee of the common council to arrange for the dedication of the new city hall.
Marriage license was issued yesterday to Thomas H. Harden and Sarah McMahon, both of Kaukauna.

A new basketball team was organized in the city consisting of Will Kampe, Joe Plank, George Schmidt, Leo Rechner and Joe Roemer. The team practiced several times each week at Kooling hall.
Bishop Messmer of Green Bay was expected in the city that evening to examine the plans for the new St. Elizabeth hospital.

TEN YEARS AGO.

Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1915.

The battles on the slopes of the Carpathian mountains which commanded the Hungarian plains were among the most desperate of the World war. The mountainides were strewn with dead and dying and both sides were constantly being reinforced.

Roy Marston was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Monday where he submitted to an operation for appendicitis.

S. R. Wagg defeated T. J. Westphal and John Brill for the position of trustee of Outagamie county last night.

Al Nizer, horse trainer, planned to make his home here for the summer and develop several new horses for the race course. Among these were animals owned by Herman Voecks, Dr. William Madson and John Gerritts.

The Misses Dorothy and Genevieve Clark, Franklin, were surprised at their home last evening by 20 young ladies of Nebekah lodge. A candy pull was the chief amusement.

The Christian Endeavor society observed anniversary week with a banquet last night. Those who took part in the program were Lawrence Dunn, Miss Grace Worthington, Miss Velma Blue and Miss Ursula Albrecht.

23 Monetary Units Are Found
In 60 Nations

(Nell Carothers, in Current History.)
When a nation has lost all its metallic money and has as a circulating medium only a mass of paper money bearing the government's promise to pay at some remote date in the future, it is customary to say that it has an irredeemable paper standard. It would be more correct to say that it has no standard at all. Many of the South American and Central American countries have had such currencies for more than a generation, and nearly every country in the world has been in this unfortunate situation since 1914.

All the paper money countries normally retain their pre-war gold standards. Some of them have never in any official or legal way admitted that they are not on a gold basis.
Assuming for the moment that the nominal metallic standard is the actual basis, we find that among the more than 60 nations with a gold currency there are 23 distinct and separate units, varying from the French franc of about 29 centigrams, worth about 19 cents, to the Egyptian pound of about 750 centigrams, worth $4.94.

Of these 23 units not one has a gold content that can be expressed in an even number of grains of the metric system. Only one can be expressed in an even number of centigrams. The others are unwieldy decimal fractions. The gold in the British pound weighs 113.0015 grains, or 7.3223 grams. The German mark contains 35.8442 centigrams of gold and similarly for all the others.

The fractional weights are not,
however, such impediments to commerce and business as might be expected. In considerable measure the difficulties have been overcome by the highly efficient methods of modern mints and by the use of tables and rule-of-thumb methods in international transactions in exchange.
The great evil is not in the weights of the individual units but in the extraordinary diversity in the group of standards as a whole.

No Free Beds Now
At St. Bernard's

(From John O' London's Weekly.)
The monks of St. Bernard are about to break the tradition of nearly a thousand years.
The tradition to be thus severed is that of extending bed and board free of charge to all comers. In future there is to be a tariff for this service.
The world-famous monastery preached high and remote among the grim Alpine peaks separating Italy from Switzerland, will thus change from a hospice to a hotel.

The momentous decision has not been adopted from choice. Stern necessity has demanded it. The governing factor is one of ways and means. The monks have but a scanty revenue, and the provision of food and beds for the army of guests visiting them every year is a considerable drain upon it. Therefore, it is true, always been an alms box on the premises into which voluntary offerings could be dropped.
Of late, however, the income from this source has proved inadequate.

There are always 15 monks on duty at a time. They are members of the Order of St. Augustine, and take up their work of sacrifice and hardship when about 20 years of age. Many of them succumb before they are 30, and fall victims to neurasthenia and rheumatism.
The famous pack of St. Bernard dogs traditionally connected with the monastery was first formed in 1812, being bred from Newfoundland and Danish mastiffs.

Q How many cells are there in the average human brain? A. C.

A. It has been estimated that the cortex alone contains 9,200,000,000 cell bodies and that the entire nervous system must contain at least 13,000, 000,000 cells. I is generally agreed that in the human being the number is not increased after the third month of fetal life.

Q What is the heaviest gas known?

W. T.

A. Niton or radon is, the heaviest gas known.

Q What is the average elevation and slope of Europe? A. W. E.

A. More than one-half of the continent of Europe is less than 600 feet above sea level and only one-sixth is over 1500 feet. The main watershed of the continent runs from southwest to northeast with a gradual slope towards the north and a steeper one towards the south.

Q Why is lead used to make type rather than a harder and more durable metal? J. P.

A. The alloy of which type is made is lead, in and antimony. The chief reason for its use is it becomes liquid at a comparatively low degree of heat and can be easily forced in the small crevices of the matrix which makes the fine lines of the type face and is also hard and tough enough to stand the wear and strain used for printing.

Q For whom was the Sistine Chapel named? J. E.

A. The word "Sistine" is derived from the Italian "Sistino" and the Latin "Sextus". The chapel was so-named for its founder Pope Sextus IV (1471-1484).

Q Did Daniel Chester French use any particular model in designing his "Minute Man"? V. E. B.

A. Mr. French says that he had no models to guide him. The general pose of the Apollo Belvedere, slightly altered with his inspiration.

Q In what part of the United States are the ivory bill woodpecker and the Carolina parakeet found? W.

A. The Biological Survey says that the ivory bill woodpecker is found at the present time in the wet and heavy semi-tropical woods of the southernmost United States. The Carolina pa-raquet was found in practically the same regions. It is believed by scientists to be extinct, inasmuch as specimens have not been seen in several years. When last seen these birds were found in Florida.

Beware Of Coughs That Hang On

Pneumonia and serious lung trouble usually start with a cough. So if you have a cold or cough, get it at once with a few doses of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. This famous balsam soothes the inflamed nerves of the throat, stops the tickling cough and nature does the rest. No form of cough syrup so good for children's throats, 20 cents at all stores.

For that Cough! KEMP'S BALSAM

When Jean Patou was asked to point out the most beautiful girl in Paris, he shouted, "She isn't. She's in Hollywood." So Yola D'Arvil blushed like all the Hollywood beauties do.

Meeting of Chorus

The Easter festival chorus of Lawrence Conservatory of Music will meet at 7:15 Wednesday evening in Peabody hall. All members are expected to be present, officers have announced.

It's Free If that cold stays

You can check a cold in 24 hours. Stop the fever, the headache, the danger. And La Grippe in 3 days. You can do this in the best way known to science. In the way which millions have adopted. In the way so sure, so reliable that every druggist guarantees it.

That way is Hill's Cascara-Bromide-Quinine. A way based on years of research. A way so perfect that 25 years have developed no way to improve it.

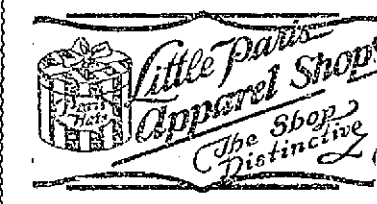

Then why take chances? Why let a cold linger? Why try to check it in inefficient ways? No one ever knows to what a cold may lead.

Colds Broken in one day

Hill's checks a cold within 24 hours. It ends the fever and headache. It stops Grippe in 3 days.

Its action is complete. It not merely stops colds but removes their poisons. It tones the entire system. It creates the force to restore your vitality. It is the final result of years of research. It has stood 25 years of tests. You will always get Hill's—and the genuine—when you once learn—what it does.

Orchestra Is Organized By Music Club

The first public performance of the Beethoven club of Lawrence Conservatory of Music took place Wednesday afternoon in Peabody hall, in connection with the regular meeting of the club.

The assisting soloists were Miss Isabel Wilcox, soprano, pupil of Dean Waterman and Wenzel Albrecht, violinist, pupil of Prof. Percy Fullinwider. Both students are candidates for membership in Beethoven club.

The Beethoven club, under the direction of Prof. Ludolph Arens, has organized an orchestra consisting of members of the organization, students and professional musicians. The purpose of the orchestra is to cultivate better orchestral literature and to encourage the study of orchestral instruments.

The personnel of the orchestra is: violins: Ruth Schumaker, Tunison, Wenzel Albrecht, Roberta Lapouette, Lorna O'Neil, Lella Boettcher; viola, Carl Engler; cello, Joseph Zickler; flute, Esther Elmer; clarinets, Lola Payne, Marion Noyes; cornets, A. L. Gmelner, trombone, Alvin Weber; tuba, Bernard Behnken; piano, Margaret Engler; conductor, Ludolph Arens.

Program For Meeting Of Womans Club

Miss Babbette Marshall, a senior in the school of speech at Northwestern university, will read at the general meeting of Appleton Women's club, following a luncheon at 1 o'clock Thursday in the clubhouse. All women who have registered at the club have been invited.

Other numbers on the program will be vocal selections by Marshall Hulbert, from the studio of Carl McKee of Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

From the Green Mountain State of Vermont, Mrs. L. A. Gunmann of Union Village writes: "I was weak, nervous, all run-down, and could not walk across the floor without resting, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health so I am now working nine hours a day. I wish all sick and suffering women would try it." After three generations of marvelous success Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is considered the most dependable remedy for female ills.

KAUKAUNA WOMANS CLUB OFFERS $20 FOR BIRD HOUSES

Kaukauna Pupils Invited to Take Part in House Building Contest

Kaukauna—A bird house building contest is being inaugurated by William T. Sullivan, manual training teacher of Kaukauna schools, under the auspices of Kaukauna Womens club. The contest is open to children of the city who take manual training. Each contestant will build one or more bird houses during regular class periods, under the supervision of the teacher.

The womens' club has appropriated $20 for prizes which will be divided into three groups. The handicraft of seventh grade pupils will be placed in one group; the bird houses of the eighth graders will form the second group while the third group will be composed of the work of boys above the eighth grade.

When they are secured they will be exhibited in a display window in this city where the birdhouses later will be exhibited. The contest will close the early part of April.

Entries will be judged for workmanship, design and practicality. The contest is being sponsored by the womens' club upon the recommendation of Mr. Sullivan who tried the contest in another city with great success.

Social Items

Kaukauna—About 30 tables were in play at an open card party given Monday evening in Legion hall by the Ladies Auxiliary. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Cyrilus Pelier and Edward Wolf. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Joseph McCarthy and H. A. Ludwig. Miss Fronte Berens and Mrs. Lester VanRoy won prizes at five hundred.

The regular meeting of Royal Arch Masons, Lodge No. 101, will be held in Masonic hall Wednesday evening. Routine business will be transacted.

The Luther League of Trinity Lutheran church held its monthly meeting Monday evening in Trinity school. The business meeting was followed by a social hour. About 100 members were present.

Miss Mabel Olson entertained members of her Sunday school class at a party Saturday afternoon in the parlors of First Congregational church. Nice children were present. Games furnished amusement. Misses Alice Olson and Gladys Webster assisted the teacher in entertaining.

About 50 members attended a covered dish party Tuesday evening in Odd Fellow hall for the Royal Neighbors of America. It was a surprise in honor of Mrs. John Gerhart who has served as marshal for several years. Following the banquet for 1 o'clock the business meeting was held after which a social hour took place.

TWO KAUKAUNA TEAMS ENTER STATE TOURNEY

Kaukauna—Electric City Keglers will attempt to win fame at the state bowling tournament at Fond du Lac on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 24 and 25 when two teams from this city will take part. Thus far only two teams have been formed to attend the tournament but those two are composed of Kaukauna's best pinbusters. The Electric City team, which has been entered in various tournaments for a number of years, is composed of Thurston Lambie, Carl Hilgenberg, Paul Smith, Allan Peterson and Henry Miroslaw. The other team is Bill Hans's team, including Mr. Hans, Frank Hilgenberg, Lester Smith, William Johnson and Hugo Kallebe.

MRS. CHARLES HEITLING IS DEAD AT KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna—Mrs. Charles Heitling, 37, died early Wednesday morning at her home, 201 E. Division-st. The funeral will be held 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the late residence at 2 o'clock at Reformed church.

Mrs. Heitling is survived by the widower, two sons, Edward and Harold; six brothers, Adolph Killian, Sheboygan Falls; Andrew Killian, Manitowish; Henry Killian, Kaukauna; Philip, William and Herman Dix, Kaukauna; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Toussy and Mrs. R. Schmittzler, Kaukauna.

Mrs. Heitling was a member of Rose Rebekah lodge.

ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETS TO EAT AND WORK

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Advancement association will hold its meeting Wednesday evening in the council chamber. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and the business session will follow. A committee composed of Alice H. Nissen, H. T. Hunt, Joseph McCarthy and G. S. Brenzel will arrange for the meal.

MOST H. S. BOYS CHOOSE LINCOLN AS THEIR IDEAL

Hiltterbrick Lectures on Greatness of Commoner in Address to Pupils

New London—M. I. Hiltterbrick, assistant principal, addressed the high school students during the assembly period Tuesday morning on the characteristics of Abraham Lincoln.

"During my teaching career," said Mr. Hiltterbrick, "I have given a questionnaire to high school boys in three different states, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, asking them who their favorite statesman was. About 75 per cent of them chose Lincoln for the chief reason that the great statesman's personality continues on down through the ages, and acts as an inspiration to boys all over the United States."

Next came Roosevelt, chiefly because he was a popular hero at that time, which was some years ago.

The chief greatness in Lincoln's personality and character was probably his honesty. He was one of the most honest men that ever has existed, always putting honesty before all other worldly virtues.

"He was exceedingly homely, but his character so far outweighed his homeliness, that his homeliness was always overlooked by all who knew him. He had a high, long, head but no wide.

The breath of his head indicates that Lincoln probably had what is termed a single tracked mind. A high head in an individual invariably indicates his high ideals, as it did in Lincoln."

"One of the great characteristics of Lincoln was that he made no pretense—he never put on airs, and never made himself out to be more than an average ordinary individual. This was indicated clearly in his Gettysburg address. The Gettysburg celebration was put on by officials of the state of Pennsylvania. In order to make it a memorable celebration, they strove to obtain the best orator known to deliver the address of the day, and Edward Everett was chosen. Lincoln was asked to come and say a few words. Everett sent notice that he could not attend on the day appointed for the affair, and so the date was postponed and Lincoln was notified of the change. To this manner in which he was slighted, Lincoln made no protest and paid no attention. During Everett's oration, which was a good one, and lasted two hours and a half, Lincoln was seated at the back of the platform. The audience was that an old lady between the platform and the crowd fainted. Lincoln saw her, and reaching down, he lifted her up on the platform and placed her in his chair while he stood.

"When Lincoln got up to speak, he looked out across the famous old battlefield, and saw all of the thousands of graves of those who had given their lives during the conflict and was moved to tears. He began speaking in a high falsetto voice, which was anything but oratorical, and, deeply moved by his emotions, Lincoln delivered the 20 lines of his famous Gettysburg address. When he had finished the audience remained silent for a few moments, and then burst out in a thunder of applause.

"And so Lincoln's humility and character had won out over the greatest orator in the United States at that time, Edward Everett, and his famous Gettysburg address has gone down in the epoch as one of the greatest and most famous orations ever given."

Rheumatism Stops pain at once

Any rheumatic pain calls for Red Pepper Rub. Not mustard, not plaster, not liniment. Not any old-time method. Men have found a better way, and everybody should use it.

Nothing else supplies such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt you. You feel it instantly. In three minutes, it seems to reach the depths. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. Pain and the soreness go.

Why suffer torture when such relief is at hand? Why cling to the old methods when a new one is better? You can prove in one hour that it is. This is the quickest relief men know.

Get it now and keep it ever ready. Pain often starts at night. Red Pepper Rub is saving others millions of hours of pain. Learn, for your own sake, what it can save you.

BOY SCOUT TROOP MAY BE OUTGROWTH OF DAD-SON DINNER

S. F. Shattuck and Judge Martin Are Speakers at Annual Methodist Gathering

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Monday night at the Methodist church occurred the annual father and son "get-together." A banquet was held in the church parlors, which were taxed to the limit. B. A. Mannon and son obtained special mention as the father with the youngest son. J. A. Pennebocker was the father with the eldest son. C. P. Stanley kept the assemblage enlivened with his leadership in community singing. S. F. Shattuck of Neenah, was the principal speaker for the evening. Mr. Shattuck has been connected with boy's work for 25 years and spoke along the line of the work accomplished. For the last 17 years he has led a troop of boys or a troop of boy scouts to camp at Chain o' Lakes each summer. Judge William N. Martin followed with a few remarks about the boy scout movement. In all probability a local troop will be organized in the city very soon.

Monday Night club held an interesting and unusual program Monday evening. Mrs. H. R. Roberts presented a dramatic reading, "Glory of the Morning." The assembly was composed of the following ladies: Miss Pearl Chamberlain, Glory of the Morning; Mrs. C. Gmelner, the chevalier; Mrs. F. W. Lukes, Black Wolf; Miss Adeline Carpenter, Red Wing; Miss Marian Hill, Oak Leaf. Each club member brought one guest.

A large delegation of high school basketball fans will accompany the local high school team in addition to the student rooters, when the boys journey to New London Friday night to play the high school team of that city. Coach Pautz is confident the boys will recover their ability to shoot baskets in the coming battle. Last Friday was the big game of the season when Stevens Point played Waupaca here. The preliminary was played by two girls' teams and Waupaca was defeated 23 to 5. The regular game ended with a score of 25 to 8 in favor of Stevens Point. After the game there was a dance and as this was a success, students have hopes for another.

Last week the Girls Athletic association meeting was held in the high school. The faculty, the Weyauwega Girls' basketball team and its physical culture teacher, Miss Conkle, were guests. A game of basketball was played, with the final score being 44 to 0 in favor of the Waupaca girls.

The Crystal benefit play, "Stop Thies," presented at the high school last week, proved to be a success financially. Of the $277 total receipts, about $200 will go to the Crystal staff to help in the production of the annual which is being published this year without advertisements.

Two Waupaca teachers have been called home because of accidents. Miss Putnam, sixth grade, received word last Friday of the death of her brother at Sparta. Mrs. Davis of the high school, received word Saturday that her aunt had been killed, and her mother seriously injured in a motor accident in Milwaukee. During Miss Putnam's absence her grade is being taught by Mrs. Irving Hanson. Mrs. G. E. Watson is taking Miss Davis' work in the high school.

Louis Larson returned to Oshkosh after a visit with his family over the weekend. John Richter of Weyauwega, was a business caller in the city Monday. Charles Xost of Oshkosh, returned to that city after a visit with friends Sunday.

Mrs. L. C. Bell and daughter Anna are visiting friends at Wisconsin Veterans home this week.

Henry Christensen has nearly recuperated from his recent illness and will be about in a few days.

Vigo Jensen has returned from New York where he took a car of dairy cattle last week.

Alvin Knutson of Scandinavia, Anton Sord of Ogdensburg, were city callers Tuesday.

Miss Francis Larson has returned to her duties at Waupaca Grocery company.

Miss Edna Potter is now employed by the News Printing company in this city.

Special to Post-Crescent
Seymour — Mrs. Raymond Hahn, Cicero, was accidentally shot in the corner of her eye as she stepped out of the house. She was hit by the shot from an air gun in the hands of her 15-year-old brother. The bullet glanced off as the shot was not fired toward the house. Mrs. Hahn was taken to a specialist at Green Bay so as to prevent infection in the injured eye.

Edward Mueller of Appleton, bought a team of horses at the Culbertson auction. Several farmers from Greenville and Appleton attended the sale.

Black Creek was well represented at the basketball game here Friday night.

Heaman Eick is confined at his home on route 1, with rheumatism.

Mrs. William Beck spent the weekend with friends at Appleton.

Miss Bernice Tubbs has resigned her position as telephone operator. Her place will be filled by Miss Leonard Staeben on Feb. 15.

Heavy rain Sunday night caused streets and sidewalks in First ward to be covered with running water on account of sewers being too small.

Mrs. C. W. Hillegas returned home Sunday from a two weeks' visit with her sons at Chicago.

Monday was stock fair day but one hardly would have known it. The little pigs stayed home. It was a wet, rainy morning and the smallest stock fair for some time.

Mrs. John Bundickman is sick at her home with pleurisy. Mrs. M. Arndt of Green Bay, is nursing her.

Mrs. Jack Ganzel of Neenah is visiting her aunt in this city.

Mr. Ed Berry is recovering from an attack of appendicitis at her home.

Mrs. August Peotter returned home Sunday to New London. Her husband, who she has been confined during an operation for gallstones.

William Row, rural mail carrier on route 5, has asked for a transfer to route 3, Seymour. Herman Husman is supplying route 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wickesburg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strassberger, Mrs. August Strassberger and William Strassberger of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. William Mohr, Milwaukee, Mrs. Edward Stines, Chicago, and Otto Thiel, Milwaukee, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dean Sunday. Mrs. William Mohr has been nursing her sister, Mrs. Bert Dean, for several days. Mrs. Dean is very ill.

STAGE AND SCREEN

MAE MURRAY FILM WRITTEN BY IBANEZ

Vicente Blasco Ibanez, the famous Spanish author, wrote the story of "Circe the Enchantress," the Metro-Goldwyn picture which comes to the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday, especially for its star, Mae Murray. This is the first time a novelist of Ibanez's standing has written direct for the screen.

Senor Ibanez acquired overnight fame in this country through the

"THE PLUNDERER" IS SPECIAL DRAMA WITH CLEVELAND OAST

Played by a notable cast of screen performers, most of whom won enviable reputations on the stage, the William Fox screen version of "The Plunderer," from the story by Roy Norton, promises to be unique among film spectacles. The picture comes to the New Bijou theatre today, Thursday and Friday.

Frank Mayo has the principal role, with Evelyn Brent, Tom Sant- schi, James Mason, Peggy Shaw, Edward Phillips and Don Mason.

The story deals with a romance of the old mining days and is replete with incidents of intrigue and fast action. A flooded mine, realistic fights and similar action, are said to combine to make every foot of the film twelve inches of celluloid excitement.

Typical scenes of life in the picture.

At Last—a Blonded Hair Shampoo!

Keeps Light Hair from Darkening—Lightens Faded Blonde Hair

When light haired people wash their hair in an ordinary way, a thin film of oil is left on each hair, which collects dirt and dust, causing the hair to darken. That is why blondes should always use a special shampoo. For while light hair is always attractive, its beauty is lost just as soon as it becomes uncertain in color, dirty looking and streaky. Blondex, the new Swedish light hair shampoo, not only keeps blonde hair from darkening, but actually brings back the true golden beauty to even the duldest and most faded blonde hair. Makes hair fluffy, silky. Highly beneficial to both hair and scalp. It is not a dye. Money instantly refunded if not delighted. Get Blondex at all good dealers, such as Downer's Pharmacy, John E. ISN'T LIFE WONDERFUL

When D. W. Griffith decided to stage Major Geoffrey Moss' beautiful love story, "Isn't Life Wonderful," for the screen, he was faced with the problem of transporting to the silver sheet a whole atmosphere, a whole sentiment of emotions, and this without the use of any of the elaborate technical nique upon which screen productions had come to lean.

A simple piece of prose poetry, one of the most simple love stories that could be told, so simple that the beholder may just doubt whether it may be said to have a plot at all. "Isn't Life Wonderful" in Griffith's hands became one of the most telling stories ever filmed.

These most familiar with the screen were those most amazed when they learned that Griffith planned to make a picture from the story. Its directness and simplicity, its paucity of incident, of opportunity for big "sets," of mob scenes and the other standard thrill producers of the film world alarmed them. It was to true to life to be good motion picture material they feared.

Griffith and his players absorbed the atmosphere and came to a sympathetic understanding of people—the characters of their play.

The result—a picture which will revolutionize ideas of film art, which will delight movie fans who prefer life to tawdry imitations, which will inspire laughter and a tear or two in the heart of everyone to whom love and courage are the essence of life itself.

Now showing at the Appleton Theatre.

COUNCIL FINISHES YEAR WITH $47,005 OVERDRAFT

CITY EXPENSES IN 1924 WERE GREATER THAN ITS REVENUE

Cost of Operating City Was Considerably Greater Than Estimated

An overdraft of $47,005.02 on the city general fund existed on Dec. 31 according to the annual audit of city finances completed by Reilly, Penner & Benton.

In addition to this amount which the city had borrowed in anticipation of a cash balance of $30,000 which (they had borrowed) in anticipation of taxes, this amount, however, was more than offset by the $33,000 loan the city had extended for the benefit of the high school fund, which all becomes depleted in the fall leaving to a difference in the expiration of the fiscal year.

There was at the expiration of the calendar year a cash balance of $17,431.92, but outstanding orders in the sum of $64,438.94, as shown by the records of the city hall, produced a deficit of $47,005.02.

COLLECT $1,151,691

Starting with an overdraft of $14,092.74 at the beginning of the year 1924, the city collected in taxes and other revenue a total of $1,151,691.35, the deficit bringing the receipts down to $1,137,598.54. Disbursements for the year amounted to $1,184,603.56, or $47,005.02 more than the receipts. Not all this money was used for operation of city government, however, as the figures also include the taxes turned over to the state, county and schools and also other funds.

Records of both the clerk, E. L. Williams, and the treasurer, F. M. Bachman, were reported by the auditors to be "found well maintained" and it is added that "every possible assistance was rendered by them to the auditors."

According to the records of the treasurer, there were cash assets of $458,364.74 on the closing day of the year, but by far the greater portion of this money is in funds which cannot be touched by the common council for operation of government. It included money reserved for construction of junior high schools, school funds and police and firemen's pension funds, waterworks, reserve, bridge fund, etc.

The total amount of money collected in real estate and personal property taxes was $796,896.49, of which $213,762.53 was for county and state, $140,851.57 for schools and $442,132.39 for general city purposes. There also was collected $212,909 including income taxes and public utility taxes. Miscellaneous income, such as interest on bank deposits, interest from waterworks, department earnings and licenses and permits yielded $148,479.59 more, bringing the total receipts to $1,151,691.35.

SEPARATE FUNDS

Department expenditures of the general fund are listed on bonds, loan to high school fund, transfer of general fund money to bridge fund, payment of principal on bonds, etc.

Separate account is kept by the treasurer of the various pension and endowment funds, waterworks funds, library funds, school funds, etc., as well as of the bridge construction fund and the junior high school construction fund. Receipts for the bridge fund for the year totaled $152,495.90, and the disbursements $131,872.55, leaving a balance of $20,623.35 on Dec. 31. Junior high school funds receipts were $674,886.02 and the disbursements $448,003.06, leaving a balance of $226,882.96 on Dec. 31.

In appropriations from the general fund the city overran its budget estimates in several instances. Among these overruns were $28,000 for waterworks investments, $14,000 in street repair, $8,000 in street cleaning, $13,000 in street lighting, $10,000 in street equipment, $15,000 in street improvements, $7,000 in street opening, $17,000 in sewer installation and repair, $5,000 in park purchases and maintenance.

Following are the principal disbursements of the general fund compared with the department budget estimates:

Mayor and aldermen $8,000 $10,538.55
Treasurer's office 4,000 3,933.01

The Madness of Youth

When he left his childhood sweetheart in the little town where they were born, and went to the city to embark on a "career," he began counting the days when he could return and make her his wife. But he knew little of the lure of the great city, with all its follies and gaieties, to turn his head and blot his childhood sweetheart from his memory.

The experience of this young man in the city is an all too common one—but it serves to prove that love is a holy and sacred thing, and that he who yields to the voice of the tempter simply invites disillusionment, defeat and tragedy. Don't miss this vividly dramatic true life story, "The Sinner and the Code," in True Story Magazine for March. Now on sale.

DON'T HAVE TO VOTE FOR MAN YOU HELPED PLACE IN NOMINATION

Several differences in legal details in the circulation of nomination papers for the office of county judge have been determined by C. B. Erickson, deputy attorney general. In an opinion he gave to John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney of Outagamie county, signers of a nomination paper of the county judge need not all reside in the same voting precinct, as the judge is elected by all the voters of the county. It was explained. The affidavit accompanying the nomination papers need not contain the statement that "he," the affiant, "intends to support the candidate named therein," according to the ruling, as it is not required by law.

His opinion was requested of Mr. Lonsdorf with respect to the office of probate judge in this county for which there are three candidates.

SUPERVISORS MEET HERE NEXT TUESDAY

The winter session of the county board of supervisors will be held at the courthouse next week and notices to that effect are now being mailed by the county clerk to the members. The session will be opened at 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and will continue for three days. All unfinished business of the year will be disposed of at that time.

STATE MASTER BUILDERS MEET IN SHEBOYGAN

The thirteenth annual convention of Master Builder association is being held on Feb. 11, 12 and 13 at the official headquarters in Eagle hall, Sheboygan. Registration started at 10:30 Wednesday morning in the convention hall. At 1:30 the official opening of the convention by the president of the association, George S. Hutter, one of the managers of Hutton Construction Co. at Fond du Lac took place. The opening prayer was delivered by the Rev. R. T. Curless of Sheboygan. This was followed by a reading by Otto Goussenhimer of the Builders and Traders exchange of Sheboygan. Mayor H. Schuelke of Sheboygan, gave the Address of Welcome, with response by Richard C. Ferge of Milwaukee. The presidents message was given by George S. Hutter.

The convention will continue Thursday and Friday with general meetings and appointment of committees for the year and introduction of several resolutions.

Little Competition For Foreign Paper In China

Emphasizing the remarkable growth in the demand in China for foreign-style paper during the past years, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, stated that China's paper imports had increased from 32,352 tons in 1912 to an annual average of 80,022 tons during the last four years. The United States increased its share in this trade, said the Director from 873 tons, or less than 0.5 per cent of the 1913 imports to an average of 9,186 tons annually since 1920, or for 1923 almost 11.8 per cent of the total paper imports.

Dr. Klein's statement occurs in a pamphlet dealing with China as a market for paper products, which was prepared in the Bureau from reports of consuls and trade commissioners in China and issued by the Department of Commerce today. Foreign paper meets little competition from the domestic product in China, the pamphlet says, except in a few lines, such as wrapping paper, and strawboard. American papers in most demand are the better grades, particularly of bond and banknote papers. The fluctuating exchange conditions and the generally higher level of American prices have had a restraining effect on the sale of papers from the United States. Aside from these two factors, however, American papers enjoy a favored position in the market, because of their high quality and the accessibility of the Chinese market to the West Coast of the United States.

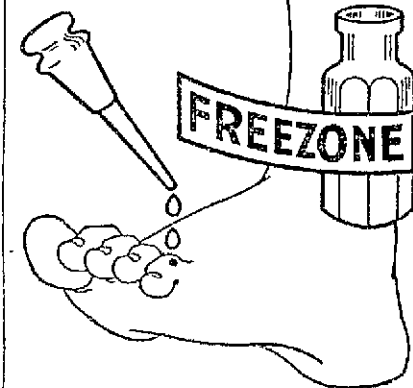

Japan is the principal factor in the paper trade at present, particularly in the cheaper grades, says the pamphlet, because of Japan's advantage in lower freight rates and quicker deliveries. Germany and Italy, however, made notable progress in their paper imports during 1922 and 1923. Germany taking a considerable step towards regaining its proper prominence while Italy, negligible in 1913, supplied nearly 7,000 tons of paper, valued at $746,000 in 1923.

The class of foreign-made paper in most demand is a white, unbleached newsprint, suitable for printing books, newspapers, posters, handbills. This paper is imported—largely from Japan and European countries—in bales of 12 reams, 500 sheets to the ream. It is essential that there be as nearly 500 sheets in the ream as possible, for the Chinese customer counts them and is dissatisfied if the number does not accord with the specifications.

The pamphlet—Paper and Paper Products in China—deals separately with the varieties of paper in greatest demand, with packing requirements, quotations, exchange and

KEICHER APPEALS FOR SCOUT LEADERS

Executive Gives Addresses to Appleton Ministers and Kaukauna K. of C.

An appeal for leaders for boy scouts in Catholic churches was made by P. O. Keicher, executive of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, in an address before the Knights of Columbus council at Kaukauna Tuesday evening. He also spoke on boys' work at the meeting of Appleton Ministers' association Monday.

Mr. Keicher explained to the Kaukauna Knights how the pope gave his endorsement and blessing to the boy scout work and how it has been taken up by Catholic churches. He also told how the boys' life bureau of the Knights of Columbus has taken hold and is helping to develop the leadership needed. Kaukauna would have its share of successful troops, Mr. Keicher said. If the council would see that men were found for scout masters.

In his address to the Appleton pastors Monday the executive stressed the need of a boys' work program in every church. He said the program should fit the boy rather than having the church adopt a program and then try to fit the boy into it.

Activities of a church program for boys should be such that they not only attract the 50 per cent of boys who are in church and Sunday school but also the other 50 per cent who are outside. Work that embraces the outdoor life is essential to success of such a program, he said, and men

LUMBERJACKS GO HOME AS SAWMILLS SHUT DOWN

Lack of snow in the north woods has resulted in a shutdown of the lumber mills in that region, and thousands of men have been thrown out of work. Trains passing through Appleton Monday were filled with "lumber jacks" taking home their payrolls.

It is estimated that the boy scout movement ideally fills this need, as it is primarily an organization for outdoor activity.

NOTED DOCTOR WILL GIVE CLINIC FOR MEDICAL MEN

Hyper tension is distinct disease, according to Dr. G. W. Carlson of Appleton who addressed the joint meeting of Outagamie and Winnebago County Medical associations Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern. Dr. Carlson spoke on "Is Hyper Tension Primary?" Dr. G. H. Williamson of Neenah, led the discussion of the subject which followed the talk and members of the society gave short talks. Mrs. Oscar Adler rendered a group of solos. It was announced that Dr. Abt, the famous Chicago pediatrician, will give a clinic for the medical association in March.

STEWART'S BOOK IS TOO ABSURD TO PROVOKE LAUGHTER

"Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Abroad" Lacks Good Qualities of Earlier Works

BY ELEANOR WING

It is a gift to be able to make use of everyday people and everyday conversations, giving them a twist which will make them funny. Donald Ogden Stewart, in "Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Abroad," published by Doran, combines sense and nonsense with utter disregard as to whether the events or people "fit into the picture." The results are ludicrous.

Some humorists use pathos as a contrast to the ridiculous. Ring Lardner often uses this means and succeeds in bringing tears as well as laughter in his latest book, "How to Write Short Stories." Mr. Stewart, however, avoids the teary turn of events, and depends for his success on the American trait of laughing very easily at anything, with little or no provocation. He does not mirror life and character with as great accuracy on this account, for Lardner's initial premise that "laughter is akin to tears" is more nearly correct in the human equation.

Mr. and Mrs. Haddock and their precocious daughter, Mildred, set sail for Europe, with nearly a house and garden as baggage. Each step in their journey is elaborated upon and exaggerated to such an extent that a certain amount of it is extremely funny. For instance, the crossword puzzle, which is part of daily deck occupation is treated this way:

"What is a kind of timouse in five letters" asked the lady in the next deck chair.

"Mildred lark," suggested Mrs. Haddock timidly.

The rudipity with which the ship changes from a regulation seagoing vessel to the box office of a theatre, to a league of women voters meetings is too preposterous to be anything but silly. The beginning of the story far surpasses the end because it is not as far-fetched.

This last book of Mr. Stewart's is not as amusing as his earlier works. "Parody Outline of History," the first of its kind on the American bookshelf, created the furor it deserved. It was highly original and had for its underlying theme the authentic biography of great men in history. Just like a cartoon, which loses its fun in the caricature, the overdrawn "Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Abroad," is too exaggerated. Another book on "Etiquette" by Mr. Stewart, carried with its humor an undercurrent of goodnatured criticism of our era. This latter book was remarkable because of its truthful, not too distorted version of reform in manners and conventions of the present. The humor, however, stopped short of the ludicrous line.

Extremes in humor are just as deadly as extremes in melodrama. And Stewart has failed equally in this last attempt to bring laughter. One's reason cannot be put to sleep so soundly that it will not rise to question absurdity.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

"MRS. RIP VAN WINKLE"
"Why doesn't some one tell Mrs. Rip Van Winkle's side of the case?" asked a woman in a discussion of Washington Irving's immortal story and Joe Jefferson's no less immortal play. Not being very good at answering indignant questions I pass it on to others.
But there is very reasonable idea was that there is much to be said for Mrs. Rip and that if Irving had lived in our own age of feminism and temperance he might have taken the woman's part and ripped up Rip instead of turning him into a hero of a romantic story.
Mrs. Rip Van Winkle, you remember, was a good deal of a shrew. In both the story and the play she heaps reproaches upon Rip for his shiftlessness and his drinking. She is an expert at scolding and at interfering with what Rip regards as his prerogatives. The story does not say so specifically, but she probably objected strenuously to his squinting, to his forming their ethical ideas on his conduct, his goodness of heart, his love for his dog, his delight in children. And those same millions have had nothing but harsh thoughts for Mrs. Rip, assuming that she drove him to drink.
But it is just as reasonable to suppose that the opposite was true and that Rip's shiftlessness caused his wife's sourness. Delightful though a person like Rip Van Winkle is in a story or on the stage, it is certain that he cannot be very delightful to live with. He loves his dog and grows sentimental over it, and the reader or playgoer forgets that while he is admiring the man's goodness of heart that woman is in a desperate effort to keep the wolf from the door. There is much to be said for the point of view that Mrs. Rip was not as bad as she is painted. A modern writer might easily reverse the picture.
WOULDN'T WANT HIM SOBER
Rip Van Winkle belongs to a large gallery of lovable, romantic characters of literature, the drinking, roistering, bawling company in which are found such characters as Falstaff, Pickwick and others. They are forgiven all their faults because of their good hearts and it would of course be futile and even ridiculous to condemn Falstaff or Rip Van Winkle because he did not live up to the principals of the W. C. T. U. Their vitality and vitality of humanity and the genius of their creators. However, even in real life, we often love a man for his faults rather than for his virtues, and a sober Rip Van Winkle is both unthinkable and would be undesirable.
But there is point to the suggestion none the less of writing up Mrs. Rip's story. And if it were done adequately it would graphically illustrate the difference between the romantic and the realistic approach to literature. Irving was a romantic, and so was Joe Jefferson after him. They cast a spell of romance over things that are inherently unlovely, somewhat bestial even. Perhaps nine out of ten of the people who have laughed and wept over Rip in the book or on the stage would heartily condemn him in real life and would warmly sympathize with Mrs. Rip if they knew her. The romantic ignores a great many obvious facts. Is the man a drunkard? Oh well, but he has a good heart. Does he neglect his wife and children? Yes, but his wife is a shrew and his children are dull and uninteresting.
The modern biographer of Mrs. Rip Van Winkle would have to use the realistic approach. He would be obliged, along with Rip's goodness of heart to describe his shiftlessness. An artist and mate picture of the family life of the Van Winkles would throw an entirely different light on Rip's loveliness and his wife's sourness.
From the nature of things Rip's story must be romantic and also from the nature of things his wife would have to be realistic.

Author Owes Fame Badge To 2 Books

JAMES BRANCH CABELL
This is the period in which the publisher slow down their presses until the buyers shall have cleaned the retailer's shelves of fall season books.
Meanwhile little that is important appears—with one or two exceptions. One such exception is "Straws and Prayerbooks" (McBride).
A new James Branch Cabell book is always important, or at least interesting.
This series of essays seems a continuation of the mood established in "Beyond Life," in which the transcending of realities is the background. In these essays Cabell runs a long gamut of subjects, from writers to religion. In studies of certain well-known modern writers he pries into why they write and finds some most interesting adventures "beyond life."
Here again the reader meets John Charteris (that convenient double through whom Cabell speaks) and it is interesting to note that, through this character, Cabell hands himself down to posterity as "the author of Juren." It is this survivor's belief that, taking the Cabell works as they stand, it will be for "Beyond Life" and "Figures of Earth" that Cabell will be longest remembered.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE TOWN CLOCK
"My! My!" said Johnny Sweep, "The Fairy Queen will be upset when she finds that we couldn't catch Snitcher Snatch, the goblin."
"But we'll keep on trying," said Nancy. "You mustn't give up yet."
So Johnny and the Twins got on their broom again and went every where hunting for the bad little goblin.
And at last they saw his footprints. So they followed him—but what do you think.
They landed back exactly where they started.
In the meantime he was having a grand time.
He went along the road singing, "A frog he would a-wooing go," until he came to the city.
He couldn't go to the beauty shop again, for they knew him.
And he couldn't go to the grocery store again for the grocer knew him, too.
And he couldn't go to the professor's house for the professor might know him in spite of the fact that he never had seen him.
"Such a pity to waste a whole evening," sighed the bad little goblin.
And then he spied the town clock. He stopped stock-still and looked at it. Such an idea—such an elegant idea had popped into his head!
"I know what I'll do," he said. "I'll kill forty birds with one stone. I'll make trouble for everybody. I'll turn the town clock ahead an hour!"
And so he did.
He shinnied up the side of the big library building where the clock was, and by and by he came to the roof.
Then he shinnied up the clock tower and by and by he came to the clock.
Then he gave a spring and landed on the big hand of the clock.
Of course a goblin doesn't weigh very much, but he weighs enough to push an hour hand down if he sits on it.
And the hour hand went from five to six and stayed there.
Then Snitcher Snatch crept down until he got to the pavement.
He went to a place where people were waiting for a street car just to see what they would do.
First Mister Henderson looked at his watch and then at the clock.
"For goodness sake!" he cried. "I'll take this watch right back to the jeweler's tomorrow. He charged me five dollars to fix it, and it has lost an hour already."
When Mister Henderson got on the car to go home, Snitcher Snatch caught hold of his coat tails and hopped on too.
Then he went in and took a seat.
When the conductor came in to collect the fares, the goblin pipped up,

Gypsy Laws Still Rigid In England

(From Answers, London.)
If the average man were to encounter on a country road a group of gayly painted caravans, dark-haired, brown-legged children and teth-ered ponies, he might be excused for murmuring "Gypsies." Yet, in nine cases out of 10 he would be wrong, a London Answer writer states.
"Then what on earth is a gypsy?" he will immediately ask.
To answer this question the writer would have to take him many miles from London to the freer and wilder spaces of the north country. There the true gypsy would be found, and, except in isolated cases, would be found living, not in caravans, but in tents. The true gypsy, who respects his tribal laws, thinks the caravan as foreign as a house and holds it in much contempt.
FEW IN ENGLAND
Very few true-bred gypsies remain in this country; nevertheless, their laws are as strict as when the first left their native India some hundreds of years ago, and for one of the number to desert the tent of his forefathers is to earn the epithet, cripple, or worse still, mumpster, a half-breed. Where a gypsy is compelled to use a caravan by reason of his occupation, his only use for it at night is, perhaps, to sleep under it.
So much for the gypsy. But who, then, are the caravan dwellers?
Perhaps it is not generally known, but Britain's caravan dwellers can be divided into four distinct classes. These the true-bred gypsy calls tinkers, mumpster, hinditimgros, and veltorgafokl.
Do not be offended, reader, but the tinkers, tinkers, are probably more English than you and I. When the Normans conquered England there were certain high-spirited Saxons who fled to the less accessible parts of the country, chiefly Cumberland, and for a time lived by outlawry which gradually they abandoned for the more peaceful pursuit of tin-smithing.

Tall, good-looking, fair-haired and blue-eyed, their descendants can still be found, traveling in light covered carts, plying the same primitive trade and speaking what is perhaps more English than our own tongue—a dialect known as Shelta.
ASSUME GYPSY ROLES
Most numerous of the van dwellers, however, are the mumpster, or halfbreeds. The mumpster is to be seen on Epsom Downs on Derby day, telling fortunes at fairs, or, in the winter, hawking his wares from door to door in London suburbs. On account of his partial Romany descent he is easily mistaken for a real gypsy; but while the latter is a law-abiding person, clean in habits and deeply religious, the mumpster is usually the reverse.
To add insult to injury the mumpster will, on profitable occasion, assume the role of the genuine gypsy and pass off a mongrel speech of slang and showman's cant as the true and ancient Romany tongue.
Quite as troublesome in his habits is the hinditimgros. Translated, his name is dirty fellow, a title which is not entirely unmerited. Unlike the mumpster, however, he has not a trace of Romany blood, and he is easily distinguished from his fellow van dwellers by his thick, stocky build and a shock of hair in color not unlike that of the fibra mats and brushes which hang on the side of his hoopshaped can. I hesitate to say it, but he's of Irish descent.
Lastly come the aristocrats of van dwellers, the showmen, or, as the gipsies picturesquelly call them, the veltorgafoki, who are, of course, too familiar to the reader to need description.

BOOKS AND BOOK MEN

EYEWITNESSES OF HISTORY
Two books on the Putnam list of the late fall provide valuable new contributions to history. These are The Fugger News Letters and The Secret of the Coup d'Etat. The first is a collection of reports written during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries from agents of the great banking house of Fugger to the main office of the great house in Danzig. These letters contain eyewitness accounts of such events as the execution of Counts Egmont and Hoorn, the death of the children of Cenci, the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots and the Massacre of St. Bartholomew. They were published recently in Vienna for the first time.
RUSSIA INTERESTED IN ITS
The fame of Lewis Mumford is spreading eastward. Chapter Seven of his study of American Architecture and Civilization, Sticks and Stones, (Boni & Liveright) has been accepted for publication by Art & Revolution, the official Moscow review. The chapter that is to be translated into Russian is entitled The Age of the Machine and deals with the influence of machinery on American architecture, and with industrial and factory architecture.

The Spirit of Service and Good-will

President Dubois of the Western Electric Company recently addressed 40,000 employees of his Company by radio as follows:

"Today we work in larger groups than our forefathers, because no one person and no small group can design and make and assemble and test and finally sell our finished product—the product which makes neighbors of a hundred million of our fellow citizens.

"In the great scheme of modern life, you and I are doing our full part. We are not parasites nor slackers. We are useful people. That alone makes our lives worth while.

"And because the work of each of us depends upon the skill and faithfulness of others, none of us can be sufficient to himself."

The words of President Dubois might have been chosen specifically to apply to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This Company is organized into a big group because no small group can handle the business of oil products on the vast scale which is required by our complex civilization.

Only a large oil company can produce and distribute gasoline and lubricating oils which penetrate to the most remote parts of the Middle West in such a way as to make possible the circulation of the millions of automobiles.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an essential part of the great scheme of modern life. Its experienced and trained personnel is of incalculable value to the community. The spirit of service and good-will which inspires every employee from the executive to the man at the furthest flung service station, is an important asset to society.

And because the service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performed with enthusiasm, energy and efficiency, the wheels of hundreds of other industries are kept running productively to serve the nation as a whole. For this Company is an essential cog in the machinery of civilization.

LAWRENCE COPS SECOND TILT FROM HILLTOP, 33-17

Giant Visitors Are Unable To Cope With Speedy Blue Cagers

Kaukauna High School Team Swamps Lawrence Freshmen, 22 to 8, in Opening Tilt

Outplaying the husky Hilltoppers in every department of the game, Lawrence caged Tuesday night swamped Kaukauna, 33 to 17, in Armory G here. This was the second defeat of the year for Marquette at the hands of Lawrence, the Blue having won, 25 to 13, in a previous game at Milwaukee. The Marquette players were tall and rangy and had the advantage of weight, but the fast Lawrentians ran rings around them often dribbling the ball almost the length of the floor to get a close shot. Poor shooting was the chief weakness of the Hilltoppers, while some of the Blues, Heideman in particular, had regained their shooting eye and popped in some very difficult shots.

Dilweg, giant center, led the Hilltoppers in floorwork while Bader and Captain Fahay made most of the baskets. Every man on the Lawrence quintet was going strong Tuesday evening. Grove and Clark were sent in to replace Heideman at various times during the game and showed up well. Grove took Briese's place at guard late in the first half, Briese going into Heideman's place at forward, while late in the second half Clark went in for Heideman at forward.

In the opener the Lawrence freshmen were swamped, 22 to 8, by Bill Smith's Kaukauna high school five. The first half ended with Kaukauna leading, 7 to 6, but in the second Smith's crew rallied and simply walked away from the Frosh.

Armory G again was crowded to capacity and even every available inch of standing room was filled. During the first half the crowd was quiet but after the Hilltoppers tightened their game in the second half the fans started getting on their toes and stayed there to the end of the game.

FIRST HALF
Ashman started scoring a few seconds after the tipup with a long shot that hardly touched the ring. Demoling tied it with a perfect basket, but Briese's heave from the middle of the floor again put Lawrence ahead. Heideman missed a brace of freethrows off Fahay's personal foul and a foulshot on Kotal's foul and when Fahay dropped the ball through the hoop Marquette was on top, 5 to 4.

Then Heideman took a long chance successfully, and Zussman caged a freethrow after Demoling had been called for pushing. Another long one by Heideman followed by Ashman's basket made it 11 to 5, with Lawrence on top. Dilweg missed a chance to score on Zussman's foul, and Heideman again shot from the middle of the floor for two more points. Then he fouled Demoling, who missed the fourthrow.

Perfect passing gave Ashman a chance from directly under the basket, and he made the shot without touching the iron. Zussman followed it with another just like it, and just before the half ended Dilweg caged one, which made it 17 to 7.

SECOND HALF
Marquette came back in the second half with a much stronger defense, but was unable to display a stronger one. Lawrence had the ball most of the time, but for the first five minutes neither side was able to score. Then Kern fouled Jake Zussman who caged both the freethrows, and Kern made one off Ashman's foul.

Zussman dribbled down the floor and caged a pretty backward shot. Heideman opened up again and dropped two through in rapid succession, followed by another by Ashman. Kotal fouled Bader, who made one of the two freethrows allowed him, and Zussman fouled Kern on Kern's personal fouls were called on Zussman and Briese, but of the four shots given him Dilweg made but one. Heideman, slipping through the Marquette defense, got an easy chance and took advantage of it.

After taking time out and with but six minutes to go, Ashman came across with a pretty shot, but Bader offset it with one of his own. After Fahay had fouled him Clark made one of a brace of freethrows. Then Marquette started a scoring rally after Bader had caged a freethrow on Briese's foul. The Hilltoppers shot whenever they were within striking distance and Fahay and O'Byrne caged the ball in quick succession. Demoling missed both his freethrows when a foul was called on Clark and the game ended after a few seconds with Lawrence safely in the lead, 33 to 17.

The Lineups:
Marquette: Lawrence, R. F. McCormick, L. F. Herte, C. Dilweg, R. G. Demoling, Kotal, R. F. L. G. Fahay, Briese, L. F. Substitutions—Kern for Herte, Bader for Fahay, Algro for McCormick, O'Byrne for Kern, Chandler for Dilweg, Groves for Heideman, Clark for Heideman, Referee, Weyman; umpire, Lewis.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Joe Chaney, Baltimore, and Tony Caponi, Rock Island, Ill., fought a ten-round draw.

Denver, Colo.—Bud Chambers, 130 pounder, won a decision over Abe Misa kind, Salt Lake City, in three rounds.

British Lightweight King Hot on Trail of Title

ALF SIMMONS

Alf Simmons, champion lightweight fighter of Great Britain, is one of the many contenders for the crown, recently held by Benny Leonard. Simmons arrived in New York the other day and is going to enter the elimination tourney to decide a logical successor to Leonard. Should Simmons win he would automatically become champion of the world.

DOUGLAS WINS IN SLOW CUE MATCH

Veteran Billiardist Makes 300 Shots to 100 for Emmet Verbrick

Dr. E. W. Douglas Tuesday night won the opening game in the billiard tournament now in progress in Recreation hall, defeating Emmet Verbrick, 300 to 100. Both men were off form, requiring 95 innings to complete the match, which lasted about two hours. Douglas made a high run of 32, but in view of previous runs this showing was no more than mediocre.

The opponents left each other safe most of the time, but the veteran Dr. Douglas found it easy to solve many of the difficult leaves.

T. Freiburger and Dr. Kolb Wednesday night will cross cues at Recreation hall in a handicap tournament, 175 to 155. This pair is evenly matched and the game is expected to be close and exciting. No admission is charged and the public is invited to watch the game.

MRS. WEISGERBER ROLLS 265 FOR NEW HIGH MARK

Mrs. A. Weisgerber Monday evening rolled 265 in the second game of a Women's Club league match and piled up a total of 619, one of the highest scores rolled by a woman in Apollon this year. The 265 score is a new mark for women of this city. Mrs. Weisgerber started out with a 222 for her first game. Her second brought her 265; but in the third she slumped to 132, otherwise she might have set up a new mark for the valley.

The scores:
ARCADIA
A. Weisgerber 222, 265, 132, 619; Bernhardt 152, 200, 131, 483; Fries 138, 131, 98, 367; Jones 175, 141, 136, 455; Abendroth 135, 118, 153, 406; Totals 575, 650, 2480.

INDIANS AND NATIONALS HAVE SIMILAR ATTACKS

A rather odd feature of the 1924 American League season was the similarity of the Cleveland and Washington clubs on the offense. Each chalked up 755 runs for the campaign. Each had close to the same number of men left on the base and close to the same number at bat. But two points separated them in the batting averages. Cleveland played in 153 games to 154 for Washington.

POST-CRESCENTS NOSE OUT WIN FROM ST. PAUL

Apollon Post-Crescents and St. Paul Young Peoples society caged ended a basket shooting fusillade at high school gymnasium Monday night with a score of 28 to 26 in favor of the newbies. A basket sunk by Lutz in the last 30 seconds of play clinched the game for the visitors.

The church quintet speeded off to a good lead, the first quarter ending 13 to 6. The newbies obtained their second wind about that time and cut the lead to 20 to 17 by the end of the half. A neck and neck scrap then ensued to the finish.

WORLD SKI CHAMPS MEET IN ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

By Associated Press
Canton, S. D.—The National Ski association's annual tournament opened here Tuesday with nearly 150 stars scheduled to compete in the two days' program.

National, international and section al champions, including members of the last United States Olympic team and former title holders will strive for the various honors.

The scores:
ARCADIA
A. Weisgerber 222, 265, 132, 619; Bernhardt 152, 200, 131, 483; Fries 138, 131, 98, 367; Jones 175, 141, 136, 455; Abendroth 135, 118, 153, 406; Totals 575, 650, 2480.

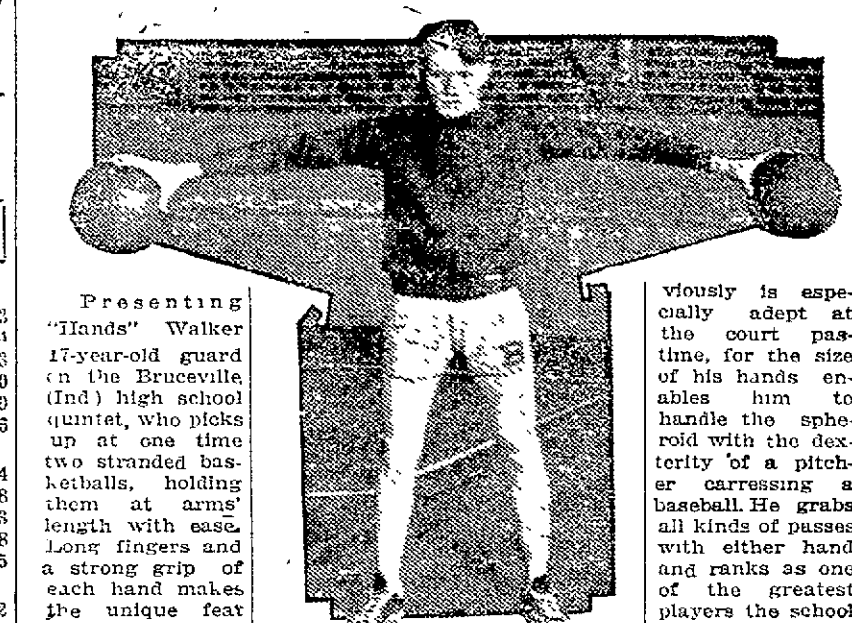

INDIANS AND NATIONALS HAVE SIMILAR ATTACKS
A rather odd feature of the 1924 American League season was the similarity of the Cleveland and Washington clubs on the offense. Each chalked up 755 runs for the campaign. Each had close to the same number of men left on the base and close to the same number at bat. But two points separated them in the batting averages. Cleveland played in 153 games to 154 for Washington.

Three Feats Stand Out In 1923-24 Track Games

American Athletics. Hang Up New Records Through Sensational Efforts Last Season

Every year usually finds at least one outstanding performance by an American athlete in track and field competition, an effort de luxe wherein a new world's record is created.

As the season speeds along old marks fall here and there they are shattered on the cinders and turf alike. It makes little difference. One triumph after another until it would seem that just about the maximum of accomplishment had been reached. And then bang—and more marks are blotted out under the bombardment of the thrillers.

REAL PERFORMANCES
Taking into consideration only the 15 standard events such as go to make up a collegiate meet, one finds that during the past two seasons there have been three what might be termed extraordinary performances on track and field.

One of these, of course, was the sensational mark hung up by Charley Brookins while competing for the University of Iowa in 1923. Brookins negotiated the 220-yard low hurdles in the remarkable time of 23 1-5 seconds, breaking the former figure by two fifths of a second.

And not only that but in establishing the fast Brookins smashed a record that had withstood the test of time for a quarter of a century. For it was back in 1898 that Alvin Kraenzlein of the University of Pennsylvania hung up the former mark.

BEATS BROAD JUMP
At the Olympic games last summer Robert Legendre, one-time luminary at Georgetown University, leaped 25 feet 6 inches in the running broad jump. And in so doing shattered the old record set by Ned Gourdin of Harvard, in 1921, by a full three inches.

The third record-breaking effort was made by Harold Osborne, one of the greatest athletes ever turned out at Illinois. Osborne, late May, cleared the bar in the high jump at 6 feet 8 1-4 inches, almost an inch higher than the best previous performance made 10 years before.

There we have the three outstanding feats of the past couple seasons—Brookins, in the low hurdles; Osborne, in the high jump; and Legendre, in the running broad jump.

Just nine players in the American League batted in 100 runs or more during the 1924 season. The Yankees claimed three of them, namely, Ruth, Meusel and Pipp. The Athletics had a pair, Hauser and Simmons, Detroit, Washington, White Sox and Cleveland one each—Helmhorn, Goslin, Shelly and Joe Sewell, respectively. Goslin topped the field with 129, leading Ruth by eight counts.

HOT SPRING, ARK.—Eddie Ketchel, Toledo, knocked out Ernie Ross, Casper, Wyo., featherweight, in the final round of a ten-round bout.

APPLETON KEGLERS MAKE FAIR RECORD IN STATE TOURNEY

H. Strutz Leads Delegation in Singles, Jacobson and Williams in Doubles

Fond du Lac—Although Appleton bowlers did not get anywhere near the leaders in the singles and doubles of the state tournament on Tuesday, they rolled some pretty fair scores.

H. Strutz had the best Appleton mark in the singles with 598. E. Strutz was next with a 580. The former's games were 179, 226 and 193. W. Williams was the third with 579.

All the Appleton men went above the 500 mark, but there are over a hundred men in the tourney so far who have done better than 600.

W. Jacobson and W. Williams had the highest Appleton total in the doubles with 1,143, which is not among the first twenty pair. Jacobson and Williams started their first game as if they were going out after first place. They rolled a 202 score for a 404 total, but could count only 387 and 373 in their next two rollings.

Jack Ryan Resigns As Coach Of Wisconsin's Football Candidates

Resignation Follows Conference Of Athletic Officials; Little Will Take Over Job

Milwaukee—Jack Ryan resigned as football coach at the University of Wisconsin Tuesday afternoon to devote all his time in the future to his insurance business in Milwaukee. The announcement came from him in Madison.

His resignation followed a conference with the athletic council and George Little, Wisconsin's new director, last Saturday. What happened there none knows. The council refused to issue any statement after adjourning. It is generally believed, however, that Ryan's fate was sealed at that time.

LITTLE DUE TO TAKE JOB
There seems to be no question now but what Little, the new director, will assume the role of head football coach next fall. Little, primarily a coach, not only of football, but of basketball, track and baseball, met with unusual success on the gridiron at the University of Michigan for three years. He won 13 out of 14 conference games. The only two defeats came at the hands of Illinois and Iowa last season. His position at Wisconsin will be similar to that of Stagg at Chicago and Rockne at Notre Dame, both of whom act as football coaches although primarily athletic directors.

The storm has been raging around Ryan's head-ever since his first days at Madison. When Richards resigned at the close of the 1922 season petty politics filled the air until from a long list of candidates Ryan was finally selected. Sentiment among Wisconsin men were split on the selection and Ryan entered into his work with only part of the cooperation that he really deserved.

RYAN WINS FIRST GAME
His 1923 team opened the season with a bang, scoring a 52 to 0 victory over Indiana in the first game of the conference race. But work as he might since then, Ryan has been unable to give Wisconsin another conference victory.

Tough breaks helped pave Ryan's road at Madison with boulders. The Michigan game two years ago was lost because of a fluke. The Minnesota game last year ended in a tie because Doyle Harman's kick hit the cross bar, and the Chicago game last year wound up in a tie only because fortune smiled on the Maroons after Wisconsin had outplayed them through all four quarters. To these add tough breaks: the ineligibility of Irv Gerber two years ago, the death of Opitz on the eve of the Michigan game last season.

Ryan came to Wisconsin from Dartmouth where he coached the team in

The Weather

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
Fair tonight and probably Thursday. Rising temperature Thursday afternoon.

GENERAL WEATHER
A low pressure area moving up the Ohio valley has caused rain or snow over much of the country eastward of the Mississippi, and light snow flurries extending northward to eastern Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Meanwhile an extensive high pressure area has overspread the country with generally fair and moderately cold weather. This will continue to dominate the weather in this section Wednesday night. Another low pressure area is appearing in the west, however, which may extend its influence this far east by Thursday afternoon or night.

ICE BOAT PILOT IS LOST IN DENSE FOG ON LAKE

Oshkosh—Elmer Clark, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Clark, had a thrilling experience Sunday evening when attempting to pilot an iceboat into the city from Kaukaunauk. The iceboat was lost in the fog and the pilot was landed at Bray's point. In the meantime he had fallen into several cracks in the ice and his clothing was soaked with water. A rain storm was in progress all the time he was out on the lake. Clark could only guess directions when he heard train whistles during the night. He dared not leave the boat for fear he would fall into a hole in the ice.

NEKOOSA EMBEZZLER IS GIVEN FOUR YEAR TERM

Stevens Point—K. B. Newton, traffic manager for the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., of Nekoosa, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Byron B. Park here to four years in the state reformatory for a Green Bay on each of two counts alleging conspiracy with Fred E. Bord, former Soc agent there, in the embezzlement of approximately $8,000 in demurrage charges. Newton is to be paroled upon application. The sentences are to run concurrently. DelBord recently was sentenced here by Judge Park on a charge of embezzlement. When he was arrested he had indicated Newton. It is understood Newton is to make an attempt at restitution.

FOND DU LAC STORES ARE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fond du Lac — Fire, believed to have started from an overheated furnace, did damage estimated at $25,000 to three stores in the heart of the business district here, where the old several other adjoining stores buildings and tied up traffic on the city's main thoroughfare for three hours Monday night.

The fire started in the Northwestern grocery store building. Smoke from the blaze and water from several streams poured in the building spread damage to the Secore & Buerger shoe store and the Dana & Worm drug store, adjoining on either side.

WANT BURGLARS TO COME BACK AND FINISH JOB

Beloit—If the burglars who unsuccessfully tried to open the Mork garage safe here Sunday will come back and get the safe open for the owners, they can have the $11 it contains. This is the offer made by the company in an advertisement. Robbers Sunday tried to open safes in four Beloit places of business. Though they failed in each, they injured the mechanism so that owners could not get their safes open without calling in experts.

VERDICT OF $19,800 FOR RAIL ACCIDENT VICTIM

Fond du Lac—Basing his action on a claim that he became permanently afflicted with flat feet after a heavy freight car coupling fell on him at Rugby Junction last year while he was switching cars, John M. Durst, a Soo line conductor, was awarded a $19,800 verdict by a jury in a St. Cloud, Minn., court Monday. The verdict was returned in Durst's $30,000 suit against the Soo line.

It Happens Every Day

When you begin to figure that you are doing pretty well to have a little pile saved up toward buying a car, and you and your wife spend quite a bit of time in considering what kind you'll get—it must be small, but good—

And then the man across the street—whose income you know isn't any bigger than yours—breaks out with a handsome touring car that must have cost twice what you were counting on paying—

And your little car that you're going to get "one of these times" doesn't look nearly as good as it used to, and you're feeling pretty discouraged—until one evening your wife tells you that the wife of the man across the way just told her that their car isn't a new one—

And that he saw an ad about it in The Post-Crescent's Automobile columns and got it for less than you have saved up—and that you can do the same thing, yourself, if you watch those ads—

That Puts the Joy Back Into Life!

The Vogue of Tables

INCREASES DAILY

They look as if they "belonged," no matter where one places them, and withal, are so serviceable and attractive that one can readily understand their vogue. You will find all sorts of tables here, from the tiny end-table that fits right under your elbow to the stately davenport table with its intricate carvings and handsome design. For the breakfast room, living room, bedroom or hall, let these tables assist you in making your rooms homelike and cozy. Their prices will in no way detract from your pleasure.

Before Selecting a Cage For Your Songster

You'll find it very much worth while to go over our display of Bird Cages — for we have a nice variety of styles and finishes for you to make a selection from.

CAPITAL DRESSES UP FOR INAUGURAL OF MR. COOLIDGE

City Will Celebrate in Spite of President's Demand for Economy

BY HARRY B. HUNT
Washington—The capital already is beginning to spruce up for its big quadrennial show—the presidential inauguration, March 4.

Sprucing up for Coolidge, however, is a rather difficult job. The president, preserving simplicity and unostentatiousness, would like the affair over with without a lot of flub-dub and ceremony.

But custom and precedent cannot be wholly overridden even by so "common sense" a president as Coolidge.

Custom decrees that the victorious party shall throw one grand and glorious celebration on the occasion of its standard bearer's inauguration. So, although Coolidge has succeeded in toning down considerably the lavish festivities, he has not been able to eliminate them wholly.

He forbade an official inaugural ball, requested that visiting governors bring only small staffs with them, and ordered that no military units be brought to Washington to participate in the parade except such as were quartered near enough to make the march on foot.

He wouldn't even authorize the expenditure of carfare necessary to bring the West Point and Annapolis cadets to Washington.

And an inauguration without the presence of these cadets a few years ago would have been considered no inauguration at all.

However, despite the presidential parsimony which has hamstringing the plans for a big blow-out, Washington and the party nabobs are hoping to make it a passably good show anyway.

For those who just must dance after an inauguration, a "charity ball" is being organized, to take the place of an official inaugural ball.

This will be held in the city's biggest new hotel—which in honor of the president's New England origin has been christened the Mayflower—and will be "limited" to 4,500 guests. Tickets will be only $10.

Whether this price was established in deference to Coolidge economy or in anticipation of Coolidge prosperity is not stated.

In further recognition of the president's descent from colonial, Revolutionary stock, the official colors to be used in decorating the city are blue and buff.

Having been the colors of the uniform worn by the Continental army, the choice seems appropriate.

"Blue and buff," however, is something of a tongue-twister, and, as a cynical Democrat remarked, if spoken without care may emerge as "Boo and buff."

But then the Democrats don't see much cheer ahead for March 4, anyway!

NEW TIRE SHOP WILL BE OPENED ON W. COLLEGE-AVE

Rosemeist and Wagner, proprietors of the new Moon garage, have rented a part of the building across the street from their present garage on W. College-ave to Joseph Hendricks of Kaukauna. This building is owned by George Wolf and the front part had been used by Rosemeist and Wagner as a show room before the completion of their new garage. Mr. Hendricks will open a tire shop and will move into the building on Monday. He will be ready for business by the middle of next week.

Wind Breaks Window

The large display window in the new store building owned by Carroll Thomas and Carroll and located west of the Hauer Hardware Co., on W. College-ave, was destroyed late Tuesday evening by the high wind. The window had been weakened the last few days and was unable to withstand strong which which struck Appleton Tuesday evening, the owners said.

A Questionnaire For Housewives

Do you know how to mend cracked earthenware utensils or china?

How to loosen glass stoppers?
How to keep cake fresh?
How to prevent a damp cellar?
How to keep silver from tarnishing?

How to thaw out a frozen pipe?
How to renovate silks and freshen velvets?

The above are only a few of the many items covered in the new booklet which this Bureau has for free distribution. It is entitled "Helps to Housewives" and should have a place in every home.

To secure your copy send in a two cent stamp to cover the return postage.

22 CHILDREN AT CLINIC FOR BABIES

Twenty-two children were examined at the free baby clinic conducted by Appleton Women's club Tuesday and fourteen children had been examined up to Wednesday noon. The clinic was to close at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Sylvia Stuessey, of the state department of health, announced that she will be able to conduct another clinic at the clubhouse on or about March 10.

The women's club plans to conduct a chest clinic sometime in the spring, probably in March.

DISMANTLE BUILDINGS ON SITE FOR EAGLES HALL

The old frame building on the northwest corner of E. Washington-st and N. Morrison-st owned by the Appleton Aeris of Fraternal Order of the Eagles is about to be torn down. The corner property consisting of three buildings was purchased by the order about six months ago as a site for the new club building which is to be built soon. Only the corner building is to be dismantled at this time.

DORWARD TALKS AT TEACHERS MEETING

Dr. W. T. Dorward of Milwaukee, lecturer and writer, will address the Appleton Teachers association at a banquet Wednesday evening in the high school. His subject is The Master Key. A social program will follow the business session. Carl McKee will have charge of the music, which is to include solos and group singing. The banquet will be served by the home economics department under the direction of Miss Catherine Spence.

DUST IN FURNACE FLUE CAUSES FIRE IN HOME

Dust which had gathered in a hot air flue was responsible for a small fire at the home of R. J. Gray, 1421 N. Superior-st, at about 2:40 Tuesday afternoon. The fire department also answered a call to the home of Edwin Hoffman, 1415 W. Washington, where a chimney fire was burning. No serious damage resulted at either house.

FORGER WANTED HERE ARRESTED IN NEENAH

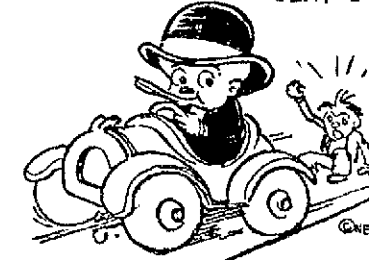

Youth Held in Oshkosh Jail
Passed Bogus Checks on Merchants Here

A youthful check forger who is said to have operated in Appleton is being held in the county jail of Winnebago-co at Oshkosh on similar charges. When arrested by Chief C. H. Watts in Neenah Saturday night he gave the name of Robert J. Morris. In Appleton he gave the name of Lester Dabon, but his real name is said to be Kenneth King.

King passed two checks in Appleton on Jan. 30, one for $15 and another for $18.50, which he cashed at two stores here in exchange for merchandise and change. The name Frank R. Seide was signed at the bottom, and both checks were drawn

FIREY CROSS ATTRACTS ATTENTION OF BIG CROWD

Fifty cents for five minutes of "hot" work was the wages earned by two youngsters at about 8:30 Wednesday evening when the boys pulled down a fiery cross which was erected at the corner E. College-ave and N. Drew-st. People who attended the Lawrence-Marquette basketball game at Armory G. and others returning from the band concert at the Chapel overflowed the sidewalk and pushed out into the road to get a close look at the burning cross, blocking traffic on the sidewalk at the corner. The cross was a strongly built affair composed of two iron bars covered with oiled cloth. The longer bar was pushed three feet down into the hollow staff of the arterial highway sign at the corner and the boys certainly earned the money, which was offered by a spectator for its removal. The cross burned on the walk and in the road for nearly a half hour after it was removed and sparks thrown out on the sidewalk by the strong wind endangered the safety of a number of people. This was the second cross burned in the vicinity of the Masonic temple in the last few months.

But—here is the real solution—a Modart Boneless Girdle. It is absolutely boneless yet gives perfect figure control with absolute ease and freedom of movement.

It erases the ugly lines of the uncorseted figure and provides a smooth, slender foundation for the present mode.

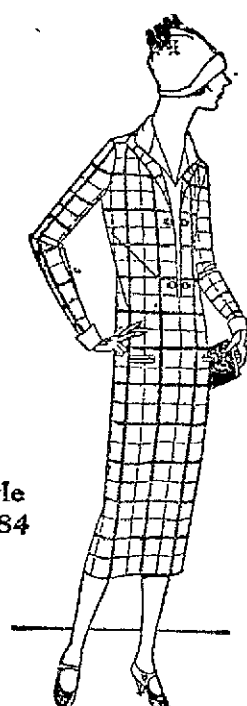

It will not lose its shape or wrinkle no matter what activity the wearer may be engaged in. Can be worn with absolute comfort when riding, walking or motor-ing. On the tennis court, the links and for dancing it is ideal.

Made in beautiful silk figured batistes, satins and silks. A particularly attractive model in all silk satin at $10.00.

A visit to our corset department will end all your uncertainty. Let us fit you to a Modart Boneless Girdle to-day.
